Chimney of Home Hit by Lightning

John Duffey of 903 Henry street reported today that the chimney on his house was split by lightning about one o'clock Sunday morning. He said part of the chimney was torn off and the house was filled with soot as a result of the crash. He estimated the damage would amount to $25.

10 ACCIDENTS IN CITY LISTED

One Involves Stolen Auto, Another Results in Arrest of Two.

Ten traffic accidents, one involving a stolen car and another resulting in the later arrest of the drivers, were reported by city police over the week-end.

Glen M. Sly of 729 Roma avenue was the driver of a car which crashed with a 1937 brown coach which O. L. Freshour of 825 North Main street had previously reported to police as stolen. The accident occurred about 12:30 a. m. yesterday in the 700 block on West Center street.

Driver of the stolen auto drove off after the mishap. The coach was later recovered by police about 10:52 p. m. yesterday in the 300 block on Fries avenue. Police said the car was reported stolen early yesterday morning from Reasoner's parking lot on North Prospect street.

Two Arrested

Ronald D. Gibson, 24, of 371 Silver street and Howard Schneck, 18, of Columbus, operators of autos which collided yesterday at East Center street and Grand avenue were arrested by police. Gibson was charged with operating a car with no driver's license and Schneck was charged with driving with insufficient brakes. Both cars are held by police for the appearance of the drivers to face charges in municipal court.

A coach driven by Emmett Huntsman of 357 Fahey street was involved in a collision with an unidentified sedan yesterday at North Main and Fairground streets.

Ruth Bowman of 562 North Main street was the driver of a sedan which collided with an unidentified car at South Main and Church streets yesterday afternoon.

Cars operated by A. E. Esterline of Caledonia and Bud Wilson of Marion crashed yesterday morning on West Columbia street near Davids street.

Samuel G. Schnabel of Bucyrus and Walter Grubaugh of 579 West Columbia street were drivers of autos which figured in a mishap at West Center and Orchard streets at 1:25 a. m. today.

Parked Car Hit

A coach parked at 420 Davids street and owned by Clinton Thompson of 321 Waterloo street was hit last night by a sedan operated by Renhold Kuba of Elyria.

W. M. Clemmons of 1018 North State street was the driver of a truck which was involved in a collision with a parked car owned by Mary Miley of 203 South Seffner avenue. The accident occurred Saturday night at 436 South Prospect street.

RAF BATTERS U-BOAT BASE AT ST. NAZAIRE

Hamburg Docks Also Left Ablaze; Germans Report Battle with Convoy.

By The Associated Press

In a battering exchange of blows at sea power, the British declared today that the RAF left Hamburg's docks and shipyards ablaze and pounded the Nazi U-boat nest at St. Nazaire last night, and the Germans said their air force raided Alexandria, British eastern Mediterranean fleet base.

The German high command said that in other operations off Europe's far northern coast German warships, submarines and planes fought a running battle "for days on end in storm and high sea and ice" against strongly guarded allied convoys along the supply line to Russia.

With the allied account of the sea fight yet to be told, the Germans hurried in first with their version which claimed that during the attacks a 10,000-ton British cruiser was sunk by a submarine and six of the convoyed ships, totaling 37,000 tons, were sent to the bottom.

Several destroyers and four supply ships were damaged in the attacks which involved more than one convoy, the German version said.

Nazi Destroyers Battered

It reported that one German destroyer in a flotilla said to have "accepted battle with a superior force of enemy destroyers" was damaged seriously."

The RAF, continuing day and night attacks as spring permits, struck back over the English channel after daybreak on the heels of the night raids on Hamburg, St. Nazaire and the Nazi-used airdromes of northern France and the low countries.

German night bombers, attacking about 30 strong, concentrated on the southwestern English cathedral town of Exeter for the second time since the start of raids which Berlin communiques flatly call reprisal bombings. The British said five of the raiders were shot down and two others were knocked from the sky over northern France.

The British raid on the great northern German port and naval base of Hamburg, attacked for the first time since April 17, and on the submarine base at St. Nazaire underlined Britain's increased effort to keep the German sea power crippled and landlocked.

Renewal of the assaults on much-bombed Hamburg, despite poor flying weather over Germany, came within 24 hours of a joint admiralty-air ministry announcement that three of Germany's most potent war vessels have been knocked out of the war for some time to come.

Three Capital Ships

These are the 26,000-ton sister battleships Gneisenau and Scharnhorst and the 10,000-ton cruiser Prinz Eugen which dashed home through the English channel from Brest last Feb. 11.

Besides damage suffered then, the announcement said, the battleships probably have suffered additional damage from airsown British mines and RAF attacks on Kiel; the Prinz Eugen by

ILLNESS IS FATAL TO C. O. BARRINGER

Former Vaudeville Entertainer Stricken at Home.

Charles Otis Barringer, 64, former vaudeville entertainer and minstrel man, died at 9:50 last night in his home at 318 South State street, following an extended illness. He had made his home in Marion for the last 23 years, and for a number of years was associated with the Marion Loan Co. He had been confined to his home since last December.

Mr. Barringer was born Dec. 20, 1877, in Marion, to James M. Barringer, a native of Illinois and Lois Merrill Barringer, whose birthplace was Marion. His marriage to Miss Nettie Bender of Piqua took place Jan. 2, 1919 at Troy. The widow and a brother, James M. Barringer of Daytona Beach, Fla., survive.

Mr. Barringer's theatrical career took him into nearly every state in the United States.

Funeral services will be conducted Wednesday at 2:30 p. m. in the chapel at the Edwin K. Smith Home for Funerals at 267 East Center street, with Rev. S. S. Hardy, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church, officiating. Burial will be made in the Marion cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home after 2:30 p. m. Tuesday.

LEADER IN AFRICA

The presence of United States troops in the Eastern Mediterranean war theater was disclosed by Maj. Gen. Russell L. Maxwell (above), chief of the United States North African mission. He said, however, that they are entirely service personnel — mechanics, technical experts, supply specialists and trainers.

RETAILER MEETINGS ON PRICES CALLED

Sectional Sessions To Be Held in Marion, Kenton.

Sectional meetings at Marion and Kenton are among 39 planned in Ohio to acquaint retailers with the new price-ceiling regulations that will go into effect May 18, The Associated Press reported today from Cleveland. This announcement was made today along with the selection of Wilson G. Stapleton, Cleveland attorney, to direct the rationing program for Ohio, Kentucky, Michigan, Indiana and West Virginia, for the regional office of price administration.

The Marion meeting will be held May 7 and the one at Kenton on May 11.

The series of 39 meetings will begin Wednesday and continue through May 12.

Appointed as Stapleton's assistant was Melvin Roberts, member of a Cleveland law firm. E. W. Clark, a Cleveland marketing and sales executive, was appointed rationing specialist for sugar. William P. Glendening Jr. was named chief regional inspector in charge of investigating violations of OPA regulations, and of all OPA surveys related to price schedules in the five-state region. It also was announced that Leonard Campbell has assumed his duties as business specialist in charge of gasoline rationing in West Virginia.

At the retailers' meetings, OPA specialists will be present to discuss and clarify the administration of price ceilings.

2 HELD IN ABDUCTION OF RUBBER INVENTOR

Pair Held on Bail on Kidnaping Charge.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, May 4—Two New Jersey men were ordered held on $1,500 bail today for a hearing May 18 when they were arraigned in Brooklyn felony court on a short affidavit charging kidnaping of a Brooklyn research chemist who claimed to have perfected a process for the manufacture of synthetic rubber.

Detective James Kane said the victim, Samuel B. Sklar, told him he was lured into an automobile by two men who said they were taking him to "police headquarters" for questioning and that when he protested they struck him in the head.

Sklar managed to escape from the moving automobile a few blocks away from his home and his screams brought police.

The chemist was taken to Jewish hospital while police across the Manhattan bridge laid in wait for the car, it having appeared headed for Manhattan. Patrolman Herman Lowenstein spotted the car later and arrested its occupants.

After hours of questioning, the prisoners were booked on the three charges as Samuel Paris, 39, of Bradley Beach, N. J., who described himself as superintendent of a hosiery mill, and Julius Schocki, 35, of Paterson, N. J., who said he was a machine inspector at the Federal Ship Building and Dry Dock Company, Kearny, N. J.

Sklar was quoted by Kane as insisting he had his rubber formula on his person when his abductors forced him into their car, but that it was missing when he effected his escape.

JAPS RETREAT AFTER ADVANCE IN NEW GUINEA

Markham Valley Expedition Reported in Search of Landing Fields.

By C. YATES McDANIEL
Associated Press Correspondent

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS AUSTRALIA, May 4—A Japanese reconnaissance force has withdrawn to its original base at Lae in New Guinea after a 27-mile penetration up the Markham valley in search of airdrome sites but another enemy column here its position 15 miles south of nearby Salamaua, Australia dispatches said today.

Neither column had been opposed by United Nations regulars although guerrillas possibly were operating in the region on the northern side of the mountain-ribbed island, which lies across the narrow Toles strait from Australia.

The withdrawal was not explained. It was the second Japanese penetration to Nadzab in the Markham valley, the first having been turned back by floods about five weeks ago.

The Japanese advance south from Salamaua put the enemy within 165 miles of strategic Port Moresby on the south shore of New Guinea. Heavy jungles and mountainous terrain separate the Japanese from the allied advance base.

Keep Guard Against Drive

The United Nations, however, kept sharp watch for a possible overland drive against Port Moresby.

Ian Fitchett, official Australian war correspondent, reporting from an advanced allied base, suggested today the move was merely for reconnaissance.

The Japanese may attempt to get advanced airfields on the southeast tongue of the island above Australia or may try eventually to push through the formidable mountains separating their north coast bases at Lae, Salamaua and Pinchhafen from Port Moresby on the south coast.

That the allies were taking no chances of a Japanese threat to their vital defense outpost either by land or by combined land-sea attack was evident, however, from the scope of their week-end air activities.

Enemy Loses 4 Planes

On the defensive, a communique said today, they bagged three Japanese bombers and one fighter from a formation of 12 enemy bombing planes and eight zero fighters Sunday in another of the frequent air attacks on Port Moresby. Allied losses were given as light.

Another 15 Japanese planes were downed in other scattered battles during the week-end, headquarters reported.

Offensively, the United Nations airmen damaged three Japanese transports at Rabaul, New Britain, Saturday, and a four-engined flying boat yesterday at Bougainville, in the Solomon islands.

General Douglas MacArthur's headquarters, reporting on the situation in the Philippines, said today that Corregidor fortress underwent intermittent artillery and air bombardment yesterday and answered with its big guns.

On Mindanao island to the south a communique said, operations are continuing on the Parang-Cotabato front of the west coast, where the Japanese made new landings last week.

There has been no change in the situation on Panay island, the communique said.

Four Midwest States Ripped by Tornadoes

By The Associated Press

Tornadoes battered four midwestern states late Saturday leaving 24 persons dead or missing and more than 100 injured. Northeast Oklahoma, victim of a twister the second time in less than a week, was the hardest hit. Twenty were dead or missing in this area and upwards of 100 injured. The storm areas was about 100 miles long and fifty miles wide in the vicinity of Pawhuska.

Earlier in the week one of the worst storms the state has known devastated the boom town of Pryor killing 61 persons and leaving millions of dollars in property damage. Missouri and Illinois also suffered loss of lives.

Bond Pledge Campaign Plans Mapped at 6 Ward Meetings

Women Enlisted for Canvass Get Instructions; Final Preparatory Session Wednesday Night.

Enthusiasm ran high yesterday at meetings of ward workers in the Marion city war bond pledge campaign as they began final preparations for carrying through a three-day drive, starting Friday.

From 40 to 60 women workers were at each of the six meetings and after the ward meeting the women divided into precinct groups for detailed instructions.

"We will need at least 100 women workers to put over the drive, and we don't have that many today," Harold J. Grigsby, president of the Kiwanis club, which is sponsoring the drive, said this morning.

"People willing to give a little of their time to this government service, especially women are urged to attend a meeting of city workers Wednesday night in The Star auditorium. The time for the drive is short. It must be cleaned up by next Sunday. A report of the canvass must go to Washington the first of the week and it will be an important report, one of thousands from throughout the country which the government will base its budget for the fiscal year, starting July 1."

Mr. Grigsby emphasized that the drive will be strictly home-to-home, that there will be no soliciting in the shops, industries, offices and store. He said that workers can literally choose their own hours for soliciting although the sponsors will suggest that workers call at home in the early evening when heads of families will be at home.

The drive in Marion county opened last Friday at a meeting of township chairmen.

Workers in the county have started their canvassing, in order to cover the scattered areas by Sunday night.

At the meeting of city workers Wednesday night precinct assignments will be made and blank forms to be used in the drive will be distributed.

Dr. Harry E. Bell, chairman of the Kiwanis club citizenship committee and director of the campaign, and Mr. Grigsby have emphasized that the drive in both the city and county is for one purpose, to get estimates from everyone on the amounts of bonds they will be able to buy each week, each month of each year for the duration of the war.

SUGAR RATION SIGNING BEGINS

Registration To Be Completed By Thursday Night; Task Handled by Schools.

The task of registering some 44,000 Marion city and county residents and giving them the rationing books which will entitle them to sugar now and other commodities that may be rationed later got under way this afternoon in the Marion elementary schools and in the county high schools.

Throughout the nation the registration started today. Harry J. Patterson, state sugar rationing administrator, estimated that about 2,500,000 Ohioans would register today. The Associated Press reported. He predicted 7,500,000 residents would be affected by the time the registration is completed Thursday night.

Persons obtaining books today may start buying sugar Tuesday. Each book will contain 28 stamps and each stamp will be good for one pound of sugar, at least until June 27. The first stamp will be good to buy sugar from May 5-16; the second from May 17-30, the third from May 31-June 13, and fourth, June 14-27. Neither the validity dates nor the volume of sugar for the holder of each stamp has been determined past June 27.

Information Needed

Persons registering for a family are reminded by Marion city and county school administrators who are heading the registration that they must have this information about each member: Name, age, weight, height and color of hair and eyes. Also, to be able to tell the amount of sugar brown and white, owned by the family on the day of registration.

Persons with surname initials A through E were to register today, F through K on Tuesday, L through R on Wednesday and S through Z on Thursday.

Elementary schools in the city will be open daily from 2 to 5:30 p. m., and 7 to 9:30 p. m. County high schools will be open from 2 to 9 daily and the five township schools will be open daily from 3 to 5 p. m. and 6 to 9 p. m.

The office of price administration, in a communication from Washington today, emphasized that retail grocery stores may accept either sugar purchase certificates or war ration stamps as authorization for sugar sales.

Point Misunderstood

Some retail stores, OPA explained, apparently are under the mistaken impression that they will be permitted to accept ration stamps only.

Although each consumer will be issued a ration book, a number of institutional users such as restaurants and soda fountains already have received sugar purchase certificates which are valid at retail stores.

For those wholesale, retail, industrial and institutional users in Marion city and county who neglected to register last week, County Rationing Coordinator John P. Probst had gained special permission from the state rationing organization to hold a special registration for heavy-users Tuesday night from 7 to 9 at Harding High school.

BURMA DRIVE PUTS INVADERS NEAR BORDER

British Fall Back To Defend Bengal Frontier Only 150 Miles Away.

By The Associated Press

The Japanese campaign in Burma developed swiftly today into a two-fold invasion threat to China from the south and India from the east as the enemy pushed China's expeditionary army to within 30 miles of the Yunnan frontier and forced the battered British troops back to less than 150 miles from the Bengal border.

The fire-blackened ruins of Mandalay in the center of a Japanese wedge up the broad Irrawaddy valley separated the allied defense force.

A British military communique described the Japanese thrust up the severed Burma road toward Chungking, 500 miles to the northeast, as the heaviest assault of the campaign. He said the slowing of the flow of supplies to China since the fall of Rangoon apparently had sapped the strength of the Chinese army.

A Chinese spokesman declared, however, that the withdrawal was made because of "strategic considerations" and pledged that the Chinese troops would win back Mandalay.

The British forces which withdrew to the west to bar the way to India were reported holding out around Monywa on the Chindwin river, 80 miles west of Mandalay.

At the same time a new penetration of invasion units inland across New Guinea was timed with increased Japanese air raids on Port Moresby and suggested that the Japanese might be ready for the big struggle for control of the important south coast of New Guinea, across the Coral sea from Australia.

On both fronts there were indications that defense forces—one commanded by an American and the other including United States men and equipment—were being marshaled for stiff resistance.

United States army bombers hammered home a new blow last night at the rear of the Japanese thrust through Burma, setting the docks of Japanese-captured Rangoon afire.

"A number of heavy bombs were dropped on the target," a communique announced. "One caused a large explosion and fire resulted in the middle of the dock area."

A Chinese army spokesman emphasized that the Chinese troops under Lieut. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell were still in the fight. He declared that "only a part of the Chinese expeditionary force" in Burma has been in actual combat with the Japanese thus far.

The implication was that Stilwell still had other forces to hurl into the fight in the mountains in a delaying action until reinforcements reached the frontier.

Chinese forces were reported still holding out at Taunggyi, 100 miles southeast of Mandalay on the flank of the Japanese column which drove north to Lashio and the Burma road. There was no indication whether they were cut off.

Chinese dispatches told of sharp fighting at Kweichieh, 58 miles north of Lashio, that put the Japanese within 30 miles of China's back door and represented a Japanese advance of 25 miles in about 48 hours.

A Reuters dispatch from Chungking said the Japanese were attacking violently in one place only 23 miles from the Yunnan border.

The threat to India to the west was underscored anew by a Japanese air raid on the Burmese bay of Bengal port of Akyab and shipping in its harbor less than 100 miles from the Bengal border.

Meanwhile the dominant All-India Congress party's proposal of only "non-violent non-cooperation" to resist invasion was opposed sharply by Chakravarthi Rajagopalachariar, former president of the party, who called for a new national policy and national army to meet India's foes.

TRAILER PARKING RULE TO BE ENFORCED HERE

Permits Required, Health Official Warns.

All persons having even a single trailer parked on a lot within the city limits were today warned by Dr. M. M. Weinbaum, city health commissioner, that they must have permission from city health officials for the parking.

Such persons, he said, must apply in the city health department on West Center street, where copies of the ordinance affecting trailers may also be obtained. The ordinance was published in The Star April 16, 27 and 30.

Dr. Weinbaum warned that the ordinance, which went into effect May 1, will be rigidly enforced.

OVERDOSE OF PILLS BLAMED FOR DEATH

Accident Fatal to Silver St. Woman.

An overdose of sleeping tablets taken Friday night caused the death of Mrs. Garnet Ruth Jenkins, 27, last night at 9:30 in her home at 827 Silver street.

Mrs. Jenkins had been in ill health for some time, her physician said. He said there was no way of determining of what the tablets were composed, and said he believed that Mrs. Jenkins accidently swallowed too many of them.

She was born in Marion on Sept. 6, 1914 to Dallas Bartram, a native of Maxacilles, and Effie Maude Anderson Bartram, a native of LaRue. Her marriage to Marvin Jenkins took place in Marion on June 1, 1937.

Surviving with the husband are a son, Marvin Jr., two sisters, Mrs. Lewis Clark of near Morral and Mrs. Dale Pangborn of Columbus and a brother, Dallas Bartram of Marion.

The funeral will be conducted Wednesday at 2 p. m. in the M. H. Gunder & Sons funeral home on Mt. Vernon avenue, Rev. D. N. Kelly of Wesley Methodist church will officiate. Burial will be made in the LaRue cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home after 7 tonight.

City Clerk To Start Police Job Tuesday

Low Shadaker of 226 Bain avenue, who has served for the past 15 months as city clerk, will assume his new post as a city policeman tomorrow morning. He was appointed a patrolman, to fill the place of Lewis Cunningham, former patrolman, who resigned to accept a position at Marion Steam Shovel Co. last week.

As yet no arrangements have been made to fill the vacancy in the office of city clerk. It is probable, however, that Mr. Shadaker will act as clerk when off police duty until a new clerk has been appointed. Hours when the city clerk's office will be open will be announced later, officials said.

MRS. IDA WITTRED CLAIMED BY DEATH

Dies at Kirkpatrick Home; Funeral at Claridon.

Mrs. Ida Emma Wittred, 84, former resident of Claridon, died today at 6:30 a. m. in her home at Kirkpatrick after a three-week illness of a heart ailment.

She had lived at Kirkpatrick for the last two and one-half years, moving there from Claridon.

Mrs. Wittred was born in Morrow county on April 2, 1858 to James and Elizabeth Schooley Clagett. Her marriage to William P. Wittred took place at Denmark in October of 1876. Mr. Wittred died at Claridon in 1928.

Surviving are two sons, Harry P., and Frank C. Wittred of Kirkpatrick, 10 grandchildren and a brother, James Clagett of Eagle Grove, Ia.

Mrs. Wittred was a member of the Claridon Methodist church, where the funeral will be conducted Wednesday at 2 p. m. following a service at 1:30 in the home. Rev. Donald Lyon will be in charge. Burial will be made in the Claridon cemetery. Friends may call at the home after 8 tonight.

AWARD TO OFFICER MADE FOR HEROISM

Lieutenant Commended for Saving Soldiers' Lives.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 4 — The war department announced today that the award of the distinguished service cross to First Lieutenant Robert F. Augur of Portland, Ore., which was announced last week, was made for extraordinary heroism during a heavy artillery bombardment of the island fortress of Manila bay.

A department communique said Lieutenant General Jonathan M. Wainwright, commanding in the Philippines had sent the citation for the decoration, reporting that Augur had rescued several wounded men and extinguished some fires in the midst of a bombardment.

Several shells exploded near Augur's unit during particularly heavy shelling, the citation said, and Augur without hesitation dashed from his shelter, brought the wounded men to protected positions and then went back to extinguish the fires.

"The unselfish courage of this intrepid officer in the face of terrific hazards resulted in saving the lives of several of his men," the citation said.

Four more of Corregidor's soldiers hold the army's silver star for their dash through shot and shell to restore the Stars and Stripes to the staff above the island fortress Manila bay island fortress.

Yesterday's war department communique reported the incident, similar to one on April 18. Shell fragments struck the pole and caused the flag to fall. An officer and three men, observing this from their anti-aircraft battery positions 600 yards away, left their shelter and restored the flag to the top of the staff as enemy dive bombers raided the fortress.

The soldiers were Captain Arthur E. Huff of St. Louis, Mo., Corporal Louis A. Rosik of Gypsum, Kas., Private First Class Roy O. Bailey of Kansas City, Mo., and Private Harley H. Lealrd of Durant, Okla.

FAREWELL DINNER GIVEN FOR DR. F. G. SMITH

To Go to Army; Hospital Part of Clinic To Be Closed.

Dr. Frederick G. Smith, who will report Wednesday to the commanding officer of the North Atlantic division in New York City for service as a captain in the army medical corps, was given a farewell dinner Saturday at the Frederick C. Smith clinic.

Dr. J. W. Bull and approximately 14 members of the staff were present. They presented Dr. Smith with a number of gifts.

Dr. Smith will leave Tuesday or Wednesday.

The clinic hospital eventually will be closed according to present plans. Patients already in the clinic will remain for treatment, Dr. Smith said.

Pre-School Clinic Sessions Next Week

City health department officials announced today that May 11 to May 15 has been set for the annual pre-school clinic for all elementary schools. The clinic is held every year to give free medical examinations to children who are of age to enter school next year. Defects are pointed out in the hope they can be corrected before the child has entered school. The clinic is sponsored by the Parent-Teachers association, the Marion Academy of Medicine, the Marion county dental society and the city health department.

Good News More Plentiful on Allied Side These Days

By DEWITT MacKENZIE
Wide World War Analyst

There's one good thing about the week-end war news—for a few days, the allies have reached the point of achievement where the breaks increasingly are coming their way, and not every Monday is a blue one—an indication that we really are getting ahead with our job.

The report since Saturday has contained some real encouragement, although the Japs have mixed a nasty dose of medicine for us in Burma. The fall of the city of Mandalay—famous because of Kipling's immortal song and strategically important as a center of transportation—has added greatly to the gravity of the Anglo-Chinese position.

Barring some fortuitous and lucky circumstance, the allies are likely to lose all Burma. This means, of course, that the Japanese will have secured another powerful base which, among other things, helps safeguard the right-flank of their conquests in Indonesia, and is a potential menace to India.

However, to my mind the most serious aspect of this development is that the invaders not only will have cut China off from the Burmese oil upon which she was dependent, and severed the Burma road lifeline to the outside world, but will be in position to strike at Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek from the rear. Should this happen, China's position will be much more difficult than at any time since the Chino-Japanese war began.

A fine entry on the other side of the ledger is the British announcement that three German warships—the battleships Gneisenau and Scharnhorst and the heavy cruiser Prinz Eugen—have been damaged so seriously that they probably will be out of action for a long time. This cuts Hitler's fleet of capital ships by half.

The knocking out of these ships will render our task of transporting vital war material to Russia vastly easier in the developing crisis.

Another bright spot is the disclosure by Major General Maxwell, chief of the United States mission to North Africa, that American service troops in steadily increasing strength are supporting the British desert army which is standing between Nazi Field Marshal Rommel and Egypt and the Suez Canal. This means that the allies are getting set to counter the offensive which Rommel likely will undertake in conjunction with Hitler's effort to smash the Russians and reach the supplies of the Caucasus and Middle East.

Maxwell also said construction of the great American built arsenal in Eritrea on the Red Sea is getting ahead so well that operations will start there before long. That arsenal should be a tower of strength in the coming struggle, for it is strategically situated at the southern end of the Red sea.

The Middle Eastern theater is one of the most important in the world right now, for it holds the resources which Hitler needs to prevent a collapse of his fighting machine. It also is a strategic base which dominates this whole vast zone where east meets west.

an attack off Kristiansund, Norway, by the submarine Trident.

Now, the British disclose, the Gneisenau is at the former Polish port of Gdynia, the Scharnhorst still in drydock at Kiel and the Prinz Eugen at Trondheim, Norway.

Air alarms which send ground defenses into action shortly before dawn in the French port of Marseille and the big French naval base at Toulon, 40 miles farther east on the French Mediterranean coast, added a note of mystery to the night's aerial operations.

Some observers suggested that the alarms might have been caused by British planes scouting for information on the location of French fleet units which, if they fell into German hands, might upset the whole lineup of naval power in the Mediterranean or even the Atlantic.

Germans Over Channel

German planes also were in operation over the strait of Dover by daylight. Six fighter planes bombed and machine-gunned a town on the southeast coast of England after noon, causing casualties and hitting a number of buildings.

From the Russian front the Germans, still unready or unable to get their own offensive into motion, reported that Russian attacks in Lapland, on the Murmansk front, and near Lake Ilmen south of Leningrad were repulsed and mentioned only local German offensive operations on the central front before Moscow.

The Soviet bureau of information said 2,000 German officers and men were killed on the Leningrad front. It did not specify whether this was in addition to 1,500 Germans which a Russian communique yesterday said were killed there.

The Italian high command announced the loss of a submarine and said that British planes attacking an Italian convoy in the Mediterranean were repulsed.

The Italian radio, meanwhile, broadcast a semi-official denial that prominent Fascists had been arrested for protesting against sending Italian troops to the Russian front.

British demands for bacon have forced the Canadian government to limit the consumption of pork products to 60 per cent of the quantity for the first six months of 1941.

ARMY FIGHTS BAN ON COMMISSIONS

Greater Shortage of Officers Is Feared.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 4—Faced with a growing shortage of officers for the burgeoning army, the war department was reported today to be bringing heavy pressure to bear against legislation that would call the issuance of "quickie" commissions to civilians.

The proposal was slated to go before the house Monday in the form of an amendment by Rep. Faddis (D-Pa.) to a senate-approved bill doubling the $21 monthly pay of army "buck" privates and granting increases to other ratings up to and including second lieutenants.

One member of the senate military committee who asked not to be quoted by name said war department officials had expressed the opinion that adoption of the Faddis amendment would hamper rapid expansion of the army by making it impossible to release trained officers for field duty and replace them in administrative posts with qualified civilians.

Faddis charged that favoritism had been shown in some instances and that high ranking commissions had been given to men who lacked the necessary qualifications and experience.

Aside from the Faddis proposal, little controversy was expected in the house over the pay increase bill. Trouble was predicted, however, for two other important military measures, one to establish women's branches of the army, navy and marines and the other to provide family allowance payments for dependents of drafted men.

U-Boats Bag Seven Ships in Atlantic in Week

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, May 4 — Undersea raiders picked off seven allied merchant vessels in the Atlantic last week to bring to 157 the officially announced total of United Nations ships sunk in that area since Pearl Harbor.

The axis submarines got six victims off the U. S. coast between April 27 and May 3, making that section's war total 55, and one in the Caribbean for a war total there of 38. No new sinkings were reported in Canadian and South American waters, where 24 and 10 vessels, respectively fell prey to subs since Dec. 7.

Three of last week's sinkings were of U. S. ships; one each of British, Panamanian, Swedish and Dutch registery.

MURRAY DEFENDS HIS LABOR STAND

CIO President Cites Foes' Whispering Campaign.

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, May 4 — CIO President Philip Murray, after defending his administration against what he called a "whispering campaign" in a dramatic week-end speech, today had a vote of confidence from the SWOC in which the CIO steel workers declared they would not tolerate any attempt to "undermine his leadership."

Four hundred SWOC delegates, meeting yesterday, adopted a resolution expressing "deep gratitude and loyalty" to Murray, their chairman, and added that they "will not tolerate the activities of any individual or group of individuals to disrupt the unity of our organization."

The conferees took to action in regard to President Roosevelt's proposed wage stabilization program. Murray commented later at a press conference that both the CIO and AFL have expressed "unalterable opposition to national wage freezing."

Remarking that he had read headlines to the effect he was in "bitter disagreement" with President Roosevelt, Murray continued:

"I hasten to say that the President and I are not at odds. . . . I would lose my shirt today to help the President win the war."

Addressing his home United Mine Workers local at Cokeburg, Pa., Saturday, Murray said "paid purveyors of poison" are maligning him and "an attempt is being made to sabotage from within and destroy the CIO." He added that he hoped "I am given the chance to live and die and fight for, and with, the miners."

This apparently referred to reports that UMW President John L. Lewis is planning to remove him as vice-president of the miner's union, his only salaried union job.

The miners cheered their approval when he asked them to "stick by me."

Marion, Wyandot Co. Motorists Arrested

Two arrests were made by Marion state highway patrolmen over the week-end.

George Book, 21, of Upper Sandusky was arrested early yesterday morning on an unsafe driving charge after his car crashed into and tore down part of a guard rail on Route 4 two miles south of Bucyrus. Patrolmen said he evidently fell asleep at the wheel. He was fined $10 and costs in the court of Mayor Whitesmire at Bucyrus.

Robert Thomas, 24, of near Marion was arrested Saturday night on Route 23 north of Marion on a charge of driving while intoxicated. Patrolmen said they received a complaint of an altercation between a man and his wife and that when they went to investigate, they found Thomas backing out of his driveway onto Route 23. He was held at city prison pending arraignment in municipal court today.

We Have a War To Win

The payment of income taxes this year has brought home the realization that modern warfare costs a great deal of money.

The coming months, yes and years, will bring an increasing demonstration of that fact. Budgeting of all expenses, including funerals, will become more and more necessary.

If you have invested considerable sums on funerals in normal times and now feel that such expense should be curtailed, you will find us considerately helpful. We realize that America's first job is to win this war.

CHAPTER TWENTY-TWO

Broken Man

KURT'S strong young body commenced easily under Tsang's devoted care, his excellent cookery, the restful quiet of the big house. Color returned to his face, quickness to his step, resonance to his voice. But Stephanie's heart still ached for the old Kurt. Because the new one was a man the real Kurt would have despised! The new Kurt was mortally afraid.

Stephanie discovered it after Kurt had been there a week. It was a wintry Sunday afternoon. Tsang had built a crackling fire in the library and Kurt, for the first time, came downstairs fully dressed and beginning to look a little more like himself.

Vicky and Allison had gone to a charity concert and Dad was taking a well-earned nap in the sunroom.

"Want to be read to?" Stephanie offered when he'd settled back in the deep leather chair.

Kurt smiled "Thanks. I'd like that a lot."

It was a silly, impossible story but it made them laugh. The phone rang then and Stephanie went to answer it. It was Vicky.

"I'm going to be late, angel, but tell Henri to wait there for me if he comes."

"All right. See you later."

As she hung up, the siren on the fire station down the hill began its rising whine. Another blackout!

"What is it?" he whispered hoarsely.

Instinctively, she went to him, put her hand on his shoulder. "It's only the blackout signal, Kurt."

"Planes! Not coming here!" He half rose, then sank back into the chair, his long body rigid with fear. "Oh, my God!"

A paroxysm of trembling shook him until his teeth chattered and when the sound of planes grew into a steady roar overhead, he crouched in his chair, muscles taut, jaw set as if he endured unbearable physical torture.

Tortured, too, Stephanie drew a low stool up beside his chair, took his trembling hand, as if to soothe him more by the tone of her voice than by what she could say.

Reaction

But like a man out of his mind with pain, Kurt moaned pitifully, clung to her. Oh Kurt! Kurt! her heart sobbed inaudibly. If only she knew a way to help. The Doctor had said rest and quiet would restore him physically but he could promise nothing about the recovery of an injured mind.

"He has suffered a severe fracture of the skull. Also shock. Either would have been sufficient to affect his memory," Dr. Blake had said on one of his first visits. "Sometimes returning physical strength brings back mental clarity. Sometimes not. Another severe shock might do the trick. However," he shrugged helplessly, "it might also push him on over the edge of insanity."

It was over in less than half an hour. The all clear sounded and Stephanie sprang up to light the lamps, stir up the fire. And to search her mind for the right thing to say. When she found the courage to look at him, she couldn't bear to say any of the empty pleasantries she'd thought of. Face buried in his hands, Kurt sat quietly now. After a moment he looked up at her, said,

"I'm sorry you had to see that, Miss Merrill," and the physical agony of a few moments before was infinitely more bearable than the soul-crushing anguish in his voice now. "I've known I was yellow for a long time but—" he hesitated, rubbed his hand across his eyes, "I'd hoped to keep it from you."

"You'll be all right, Kurt. Don't worry about it."

He smiled then and Stephanie fought to keep her own smile unfurled. "That's right, my little nurse. Keep the patient cheery!" And then with sudden bitterness that burst like flame.

"Have you any idea what hell it is to know that you're licked? To know that there's part of your brain that won't work? Have you any idea what it means to come out of an anesthetic with no memory at all of what you are or who you are?" Pulses at his temples throbbed to life and his lips went white with fury. "Can you guess at the humiliation of having to be told what your name is and how old you are and where you came from?"

"Oh, Kurt — please, please don't!" she begged, tears streaming unheeded down her cheeks.

"Don't what?" he demanded, flinging her hand off his arm as he lunged out of his chair, paced the room frantically. "Don't care that you're a mouse, not a man? Don't care that everybody treats you as if you were a little simple? Don't care that—Oh hell—what's the use!"

Love

She was beside him again. "Kurt—please. This is only reaction from the horrible experience you must have had. If you'll only be patient, if you'll only remember that we want you to get well—that we—"

He reached for her, then, pulled her face down close to his until he looked straight into her eyes. "Do you want me to get well, Stephanie?"

"Of course, Kurt. We all—"

His grasp tightened. "Do you honestly believe I'm not nuts?"

For a moment, Stephanie thought she could not face this cruel test. But her voice lost none of its steadiness as she said, calmly, "Certainly you're not nuts. You have had a blow or a shock, or both, which has affected your memory. In time even that will return. Meanwhile, you have a job to do, a fight to wage against yourself. You're strong enough to win that fight, Kurt,—if you want to win it."

"Will you help me Stephanie?"

"Of course I will."

"No—not 'of course you will'," he mocked her fiercely, "But why should you?" he thrust her away violently. "Why would any girl love a man's that's only half a man! That just doesn't make sense, does it?"

"But I do love you Kurt"—words she'd dreamed spoken aloud finally, but so differently! "I've—always—loved you."

"Oh, no you haven't. You've felt sorry for me." He put her away from him. "You're nice to say so, anyway. Thanks—" grimly, "for the ray of sunshine."

Desperate, Stephanie flung herself into his arms, pressed her lips fiercely against his mouth, poured all of the surging emotion of that moment into her kiss.

"There—" she said, her voice breaking on a sob. "I love you. Does that prove it?"

He smiled gently now, held her a moment in his arms. "No. You're sweet to pretend you do. But I wouldn't love you so much if you were the kind of a girl who want a coward for a husband."

Despairing, Stephanie buried her face against his lapel. What could she do, what could she say to help Kurt find himself to give him back his manhood?

Jury Trial Over Will Ends in Disagreement

A trial in common pleas court to determine the validity of a will codicil resulted in a deadlock among jurymen Thursday. It has not been decided whether there will be a retrial.

The petition was filed by Mrs. Edna H. Staley, Mrs. Bertha First, Mrs. Mabel Broadsword and Carl Zimmerman against Anna Zimmerman and Joseph Neidhart, executor of the estate of Henry E. Zimmerman. The plaintiffs, children of Henry Zimmerman, a former Girard avenue resident and prominent as a national officer in a railroad brotherhood, contest the validity of the codicil which is attached to their father's will.

The codicil revokes their claim to share in the estate and invests all inheritance in Anna Zimmerman. Mr. Zimmerman's second wife.

Those on the jury were: Emma Simmons of 520 Oak street, Lucille Cline of 502 North Greenwood street, James Bain of near Marion; Gertrude Hatcher of 952 Congress street; E. B. Bain of North Main street; Lulu Friend of near Marion; Zula McCullough of 273 Clover avenue; Carrie McGrew of 546 Delaware avenue; Katherine Cheney of 663 Concord avenue; Neil Little of near LaRue; George Williams of Prospect and Margaret Thomas of Chestnut street.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

United States army trucks resemble the prairie schooners of our pioneers for utility, not for sentiment. These motorized covered wagons "get where they are going" with men and supplies.

The 2½ ton truck costs about $2,000 or slightly more than the purchase value of 100 of the $18.75 War Savings Bonds. We need thousands of these trucks. You can help pay for them by buying U. S. War Savings Bonds every pay day. Help swell the War Bond quota in your county.

Marion Seaman's Training Upset by Pearl Harbor

The attack on Pearl Harbor played havoc for a time with the navy training of Jack Gamble, son of Mrs. Nellie Gamble of 548 Davids street, but it has given him some exciting months of living, according to letters received recently.

Gamble, a Harding High school graduate in 1939, enlisted in the navy at the local recruiting station March 10, 1941. He was sent to the Great Lakes Naval Training station and after basic training was given an aptitude test which qualified him for a course in aviation radio.

He was sent to the navy's training school at Seattle and after four months of intensive study was graduated with a rating of seaman, second class. His class was sent aboard ship from Seattle to San Diego, where they were to study an advanced course in radio.

The ship arrived at San Diego on Dec. 7, day of the Pearl Harbor attack, and the class was not permitted to land. Instead their ship was sent immediately to Pearl Harbor. At Pearl Harbor the class was transferred to another ship and was sent under fire as lookouts.

Now that things apparently have quieted down in the Pearl Harbor area, Gamble has been sent to Ford Island, Territory of Hawaii, for advanced training in aviation radio and gunnery.

According to his latest letter, when he completes the present course he will be the radio man and rear-seat gunner on one of the navy's planes. He will have a rating of seaman, first class.

From where I sit . . .

by Joe Marsh

MAYBE I shouldn't admit it, but there are a few things about this writing job I really like.

F'instance, I like the part where . . . after all the writin' and the routine is done . . . I just sit back and think about things in general (Oh, yes, that's part of the job, too.)

Doesn't matter much what I think about. Sometimes I concentrate on one thing. Sometimes I think of lots of things, one right after the other.

• • •

Usually, when I get to thinkin', I send down for some beer. Seems a glass of beer not only touches the spot but it also sort of helps the thinkin' mood along.

It's such a peaceful, friendly beverage. Sort of honest and human. And it tastes good.

I like to hold my glass of beer up to the light and look through it. That beautiful, golden amber color kind of fascinates me. Reminds me of the sunny barley fields where beer gets its start.

After all . . . when you stop to think about it . . . beer is a simple, natural thing. I read somewhere that all it's made of is good, wholesome farm grains and water and a little yeast . . . with hops for flavor. Nature's process of fermentation and the age-old art of the brewer does the rest.

I guess that's why beer is so wholesome. It really is the beverage of moderation. You just can't imagine anybody getting into trouble drinking a few glasses of beer.

• • •

Well, here I am . . . going on and on thinking and talking about beer. I probably could go on for hours. That's the way I am when I set back and get to thinking about things.

And by the way, taking it easy and "just thinkin'" is fun. Try it sometime . . . quiet and comfortable like.

Decrease in Traffic Deaths Shown in Ohio

COLUMBUS, O., May 4—A decrease in traffic deaths on Ohio highways during the first three months of 1942 was seen today as evidence that motorists are complying willingly with official requests that speeds be reduced during the war.

Hal G. Sours, state highway director, said that the spirit of cooperation was producing in Ohio results as favorable as those obtained by legislation in other states.

The decrease in deaths outside of municipalities, was 15.9 per cent under the same period a year ago, Sours said, even though total traffic increased 7½ per cent.

Program Plans Listed for Fine Arts Festival

MRS. A. W. [illegible] will preside and [illegible] will be opened by Mr. Grover C. Snyder, when the Marion County Federation of Women's Clubs opens its twelfth annual community fine arts festival Tuesday in the First Evangelical and Reformed church. The afternoon and evening programs will include talks and music, and during the banquet [illegible] slated for 6 o'clock, with [illegible] literature and scrap book [illegible], flower arrangement [illegible], table setting and creative art arrangement contests will be announced.

Guest speakers will include Mrs. Paul Alexander of Maumee, state chairman of literature, drama and poetry, John L. Gierson, of the extension service of Ohio State university, and Miss Isabel Giraldo, Pan-American fellowship student at Ohio State university.

In addition to the displays arranged by the clubs and the competitive exhibits entered by the women there will be an exhibit of contemporary American artists, and gallery talks will be given by Mrs. C. J. Altmaier and Mrs. John Matthews. Deadline for entries in the displays is 10:30 a. m. Tuesday.

Exhibits [illegible] include a flower show arranged in one of the rooms of the church by the Town and Country and House and Garden clubs. There will be flower arrangements, centerpieces, garden [illegible] and other items of interest to the gardener.

Members of the Marion County Federation chorus directed by Mrs. Eugene H. Moore, with Mrs. Fred Sinning as accompanist, will sing three numbers on the afternoon program. These will include "Prelude," Romald, "A Broken Melody," Grunfeld-Howorth, and "O Entrancing Night," Madsen. Mrs. W. N. Harder, chairman and founder of the fellowship named in her honor by the state federation, will present Miss Giraldo. Mrs. Alexander will give a poem, "I Sing America," by Clara Lambert.

Mrs. T. H. Sutherland, chairman of the fine arts committee, will preside for the banquet and the invocation will be spoken by Mrs. Paul Knauss, a past federation president. Miss Maye Evangeline Lawrence, chairman of literature and drama, will announce the winners of the literature and scrap book contests. Mrs. C. V. Hudson, chairman of conservation, will announce the winners of the flower arrangement contest, and Miss Mabel Wheatley, chairman of art will announce the winners of the table setting and creative art contests.

The invocation will be spoken by Rev. E. H. Wierth, pastor of the First Evangelical and Reformed church, to open the evening session at which Mrs. Bacon will preside. Mrs. Earl N. Hale will sing "Out to Win," a composition by Mrs. J. B. Bray, with Mrs. Harold K. Mouser as accompanist. The Marion Lecture-Recital club chorus, directed by L. G. Jones, will sing "The Butterfly," Jenkins, "My Bonnie Lass She Smileth," German, "Waltz of the Seasons," snoralization by Gustav Klem of a waltz by Johann Strauss. The solo will be sung by Mrs. Hale and Mrs. Joan McKillop will play a violin obligato, in the presentation of "Seraphic Song," Rubinstein, with choral paraphrase by Samuel R. Gaines. Miss Roseline Manzo will play the piano accompaniments. The program will conclude with a talk on "The Place of Art in Every Day Living," by Mr. Gierson of Hillsboro. A graduate of law school, Mr. Gierson is a Highland county farm operator and is connected with Ohio State university rural extension department. He is an amateur in art but has made a study of paintings and he is the owner of a small collection. His talk will show relationship between the fine arts field and life, which, he says "is art itself."

Judging the various entries will be Mrs. John Matthews, flower arrangements; Miss Maud Gorham, Mrs. William C. Beatty, Harold Carroll, table settings; Miss Maud Gorham, George Edgecomb, Willis Lane, creative work arrangements; Miss Hallie Houck and Earl N. Hale, scrapbooks.

Mrs. T. H. Sutherland is general chairman for the festival and is being assisted by the following committee: Miss Mabel E. Wheatley, art chairman, Mrs. E. E. Holt, Mrs. George E. Turner, Mrs. E. H. Cowan, Mrs. Karl Holly of Marion and Mrs. Lloyd Mattison of Richwood, art; Mrs. C. V. Hudson and Mrs. A. J. R. The farm account books were judged by Guy Miller, extension economics at Ohio State university. Lackey will receive war stamps.

U. S. Employment Service Facing Curtailment

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., May 4—Ohio industry may lose a friend that [illegible] many clear household [illegible] months.

Women [illegible] who have failed to [illegible] housecleaning time [illegible] have long since relied on the U. S. employment service to supply them emergency help. Now a budget curtailment may force the service to limit its activities to finding workers for essential war industries and farmers, State Director Wade Hammond asserted today.

"If our budget is cut, it will mean the end of the 'business as usual' policy," Hammond explained. "We'll have to curtail drastically our service to non-essential industries. It may eliminate many services which have no direct bearing on the war effort."

A large portion of the organization's facilities has been devoted to the domestic field, he reported, adding that this probably would be the first hit by a tightening of the employment program.

The establishment of new plants or the extension or conversion of existing plants in various industries in Switzerland has been curtailed.

A WAR MESSAGE FROM THE TREASURY DEPARTMENT

★ ★ ★

"War is never cheap, but let me remind you that it's a million times cheaper to win than to lose."
—Henry Morgenthau, Jr.,
Secretary of the Treasury.

MILLIONS UNDER ARMS—the fastest, hardest-hitting fighting-machine the world has ever known! That is the goal, as America's youth rallies to the call . . . hurrying from farms, towns, and cities all the way from Maine to California, from the Great Lakes to the Gulf.

There's Tom, from down the block . . Bill, and George, and Jack, who left good jobs . . . your friends, neighbors, brothers, sons. They're going . . . and going eagerly so that America, our free America, will remain forever free.

But YOU, who'd like to join them, and can't . . . what about you? You're eager to do your part, too. The thing is, HOW? And the Government answers—"You can help in two vitally important ways—by working harder than ever before and by buying Bonds to the very limit of your powers."

Guns and tanks and ships and planes cost money—billions! To pay the huge cost of this war, money must flow in a steady stream from you and everyone—the butcher, the baker, even the boy who cuts your lawn. Because this war belongs to all of us—to fight, to finance, to finish.

So let's all answer the call with every last dime and dollar that we can, even if it means going without things . . . remembering that we will go without everything, including our cherished freedom, if the Axis is not crushed, now and for all time. Go to your employer, bank, post office, or other official sales agency for Bonds now—pledge yourself to make every pay day "Bond Day."

Ally Joseph Stalin

SOONER or later, there must be a showdown on relations between the United States and Russia. It may be fun to imagine that all differences have been dissolved in a bond of common enmity for Germany and Italy, but it isn't intelligent to take such fun seriously. The realities can't be brushed aside that easily.

In Joseph Stalin's May day statement, it was apparent that he views Russia's war objective as being (1) to drive foreign troops out of Russia and (2) to destroy "Fascism, German bankers, plutocrats, barons and landlords." Stalin is doing a good job of protecting "Mother Russia," but plainly he hasn't forgotten that some of her children are sizzling with zeal for the idea of overthrowing the established order in other countries and giving the so-called proletarian bloc totalitarian authority.

The circumstances of war that have thrown Russia, Great Britain and the United States into a common front against Germany and Italy—though not yet against Japan—may change the fundamental differences of opinion between the Third Internationale and the governments it is trying to undermine. But that is not likely. It isn't easy to imagine that the Communists who have tried to foment trouble among Americans and British have repented and decided to let well enough alone. Though clothed now in the sanctity of a common cause, American Communists haven't pulled in their horns. They are delighted with a change of circumstances that makes it easier for them to proceed with their job of glorifying Russia and hooting derisively at the United States and Great Britain—excepting, of course, their help for Russia.

Americans are incurable wishful thinkers about international relations. They want to believe in lasting friendships, common bonds of sympathy, mutual admiration, blue ribbons and heart-throbs. They could avert at least one rude awakening if they would continue to look at Russia the way there is every reason to believe the Russians are looking at them—appraisingly, as allies, instead of sentimentally as partners in a beautiful friendship. It was, after all, only a year ago that Russia still was a silent partner of the Axis; the Communists were as hard at work then to hamstring the American war effort as they are now to redouble it to help Russia.

Peace Is Always Possible

PEACE rumors, against which this country had been warned, are flying. They are accomplishing nothing, however, except to arouse wonderment.

The strategy—if that's what it is—of sending out peace feelers when things are going badly seems muddled to American minds. It sounds more plausible to say that if Hitler and Mussolini were trying to accomplish something by their recent confessions of adversity, they were hoping to throw the opposition off guard by raising its hopes.

Peace is always possible. That is the underlying supposition of belligerency, which otherwise would be the normal order of things and, therefore, of no particular consequence; there would be no alternative. Moreover, the objective of modern warfare is to produce terms of peace that will be acceptable. Wars of wanton destruction are outmoded, because the only purpose of destruction is to exert pressure on the victim's determination to resist.

Obviously, Germany would like nothing better than peace on its own terms. It has nothing to gain now by continuing to fight. Its ultimate exhaustion and defeat are virtually certain. Italy, likewise, must dream of peace before it has lost what little it has retained from its unprofitable alliance with Germany. Even Japan, which has met no reverses yet, has good reason to dream rosily about peace that would place it securely in possession of its conquests.

But these things are as obvious to Americans, for instance, as they are to Germans, Italians and Japanese. Under the circumstances the suggestion of peace is unattractive. Unless the populations whose governments resorted to war were convinced beyond question of doubt that belligerency was a blunder, peace would be more dangerous than war. Until the Axis has sustained more and more serious reverses than it has sustained so far, peace overtures, if any, must be dismissed as flimsy tricks to throw the opposition off its guard.

News Behind the News

Many Explanations Offered for Failure of Columbus Plant To Produce Planes.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, May 4 — Hemming and hawing over whether the government should seize the Curtiss-Wright airplane factory at Columbus, Ohio, have been reaching the public prints, off and on, in a necessarily vague way, because of the desire of everyone to avoid disclosing military secrets involved.

It should no longer be a military secret that this plant achieved the sensational record, of not delivering a single airplane for more than 11 months after it broke ground. The plant was started Jan. 20, 1941, and was finished nearly a year ago in the middle of June. Yet the first delivery was made only a few weeks ago.

A big christening was held last Dec. 4, for what was supposed to be the first plane off the line. Deliveries were supposed to have started then.

Pictures were taken and newspaper stories widely circulated. Since then the only matters about which there has been any publicity have been the accusations and denials that a slowdown existed there.

The christened plane was actually only a test model. After the cameras were taken away and the newspapermen had gone, weights were dropped upon its wings, etc., to determine its durability. It was wrecked in the process, and actual deliveries did not start until about five months later.

Explanations

Now, there may be disputes as to who is to blame, but there can be no denial of these facts. Among the explanations, which are no doubt valid, are that the personnel in the plant was 92 per cent new to the aviation industry; that the plant itself was likewise new; that the company had to do experimental designing and moving, as well as producing, etc.

Other charges that have been made, however, are:

That morale in the plant has been low; that labor has been in a slowdown, and that neither the management nor the labor seemed able to handle its own end of the business efficiently.

Whether a new naval inspector assigned to the plant will change matters remains to be seen.

Regardless of all that, no one here or in Columbus has been able to cut through this amazing situation and give that plant a record of which it should be proud. So far it has produced more explanations than planes.

Stalin's Speech

Stalin's May day speech was addressed to the Red workers, but it sounded like none he ever made before. Gone was any talk of "the revolution." Absent was any suggestion of his kind of communism. What he wants now is:

"Freedom and justice."

Moderate also were his demands. He renounced any ambition for territory, beyond the acquisition (he said "freeing") of his own Ukraine and white Russians, Lithuanians, Latvians, Estonians, and Finnish Karelians.

While this new presentation of Russian purposes may have been partly conceived for effect on the outside world, its main effect will be upon the Russian people themselves, directing their minds away from old Red goals toward a new one.

Political fronts can be swiftly changed in a dictator nation like Russia. This one may also be subject to post-war change without notice.

But for the present at least it will contribute further unity to the cause of the United Nations.

A New Burma Road

Mr. Roosevelt will have trouble keeping his promise to maintain the shipment of supplies to China. He was no doubt speaking of creating a new Burma road of the skies. He could make it fully efficient only with 100 transport planes, each plane would carry three or four tons. With a round trip a day from India for each plane, the skyway could approximate the peak traffic of the Burma highway. It carried around 15,000 tons a month, although 6,000 of this was gas for the trucks.

A hundred planes, however, are hard to find these days. The Chinese were promised 25 but they have not yet received these.

Very little material has been getting into China since the Japs seized Rangoon.

Blank Check Fund

No one knows exactly what the President has done with his secret blank check fund of $200,000,000, and it may be two or three years before an accounting is given.

The April 28 daily treasury statement shows the total spent since last June 30 is $117,433,000 nearly twice as much as the previous fiscal year. It says certain amounts have been allocated to navy, army, building, etc., but not how these amounts were spent.

It is known Roosevelt used much of the money to build the Atlantic bases and got these sums back from congress. The civil defense jamboree under La Guardia was likewise partly financed from the fund, but congress denied reimbursement for some of these items.

SAMPSON'S HAIR?

Pilots' Jobs Tougher Now

A Veteran Pays Respects to Modern Army Fliers.

BY WENDELL WEBB

HONOLULU, May 4 — (Wide World) — Col. Albert F. Hegenberger, one of the two men who made the first flight from the mainland to Hawaii, is convinced it's tougher to become a good pilot in these days of a hundred safeguards than it was when an airplane was a cross between a wire fence and a piano box.

"I've a world of admiration for these boys of ours today," he says.

"You see, when I was a youngster, we kind of grew up with planes. We developed as they did, and we learned as we went along.

"But now a young chap has to swing right into a modern and necessarily complicated piece of machinery, and he has a job on his hands. Complex military problems have compelled advances which take real skill to assimilate."

A 25-Year Pilot

The chunky, black-haired colonel, 46-year-old native of Boston, Mass., should know what he's talking about—he's been flying for 25 years. He's in Hawaii as executive officer to Brig. Gen. Willis H. Hale, chief of the Hawaii bomber command.

And he's certain "American fliers and American equipment are tops."

It was on June 28, 1928, that two army lieutenants — Hegenberger and Lester Maitland, also now a colonel — took off from Oakland, Calif., to conquer the 2,400 miles of ocean which now are a crucial sector of west coast defense. They landed here the next day. Their Fokker plane, with three 225-horsepower engines, averaged around 100 miles an hour.

Colonel Hegenberger was reluctant to say what he thought might be a comparable flight today, in the light of modern equipment—"you have to use a globe now instead of a map," he grinned.

He admitted, however, that a flight from the mainland to China at the present time probably would put no more strain on the imagination or on prevailing airplanes than did the now-routine Hawaiian hop 14 years ago.

Repeated Historic Flight

It was not until last December that Colonel Hegenberger again piloted a ship over the same route. He flew an army bomber from California — and if plans hadn't been changed at the last minute he would have been on the flight which barged right into the Japanese assault here Dec. 7.

"It was just like riding in a rocking chair," he commented. "Someone else, or something else, was doing all the work for me." But he made it clear he wasn't minimizing the difficulty of learning to handle modern planes.

The colonel, who holds the distinguished flying cross for his pioneer flight and an oak leaf cluster for his system of blind flying, still keeps his hand in piloting, despite his desk job. He adds frequently to his more than 4,000 hours of flying time by taking off on the Hawaiian dawn patrol.

His wife and daughter, Geraldine, 14, are in Washington, D. C., one son, Albert, 21, is at West Point, and the other son, Robert, 17, is a high school senior here. Both boys have flown alone and aspire to be rated pilots.

Germany 25 Years Ago and Now

World War Record Suggests Some Probabilities.

GERMANY'S airtight censorship of news has left the outside world guessing about internal conditions in the reich. Uncertainty has caused Adolf Hitler's latest speech to be examined with particular pains for signs of what may be happening.

Some analysts have read between the lines a story of unrest inside Germany. Others claim to find a confession that Germany cannot win the war and is laying the groundwork for peace. Still others skeptically suggest that Hitler's only reason for making a speech hinting of trouble is to fool analysts abroad into making the mistake of wishful thinking; they are inclined to believe the man never will tell the truth, least of all when it would entail admitting he is having difficulty.

On the whole, it seems reasonable to suppose that Germany in 1942 is in pretty much the same boat as Germany in 1917 after three years of war. Hitler probably is facing the same realities of war weariness resulting from the effect of prolonged strain on the resources of the country. It is known that Germany entered this war less well prepared to stand the rigors of a major military effort than it was in 1914. This time there had been no preliminary prosperity to enrich the country beforehand. Indeed, it is claimed that the national standard of living at the beginning of the current war was not appreciably higher than it was at the close of the previous war.

Chief political difference between Germany today and 25 years ago is that then the reichstag, which now operates as a dummy body, had real legislative authority. It actually controlled the administrative head of the state. The extreme left wing of the Socialists was active and is believed to have arranged a strike in the vital metal trades as early as June, 1916. Strikes continued to occur throughout 1917. In January, 1918, left-wing groups managed a strike in munitions plants. Even before 1918, refusals of duty amounting almost to mutiny had occurred in the German fleet.

ALBERT C. GRZESINSKI says in his book "Inside Germany" that the food shortage in Germany began to be felt in the early days of 1916. "After the so-called 'turnip winter' of 1917—the potato crop had been exceptionally poor and turnips, formerly used as fodder, served now as food substitutes—the sufferings of the people became unbearable," he declares. "The people subsisted almost entirely on substitutes. . . . A thin slice of poor bread spread with fake marmalade constituted the evening meal of a factory worker who had just finished 10 or more hours of hard work. People, as a result of under-nourishment, died by the tens of thousands. In addition, the winter of 1917-18 brought a devastating epidemic of influenza."

The food situation in Germany today is not believed to be as desperate as it was then, because German supplies have been bolstered by supplies taken from Denmark, Holland, Belgium, Norway, Italy, the Balkans and both occupied and unoccupied France. But these sources of supply may now have dried up. It is noteworthy that potatoes recently have been rationed in relatively low amounts.

In 1917, the morale of the German people seems to have risen and fallen in direct ratio to the prospects of victory. They were bright in the winter of 1917-18, with Russia knocked out of the war and Italy paralyzed by ignominious defeat at Caporetto. President Wilson seemed on the verge of arranging peace by negotiation when Germany launched the terrific drive that very nearly routed the Allied armies. But the drive failed. The United States entered the war. Germans realized their cause was hopeless. Perhaps they are realizing it again now. It would take something close to a miracle in morale if they could be kept from noting the similarity to their situation a quarter of a century ago.

"All right, pull it in before it gets sun-burnt!"

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Wednesday, May 4, 1932.

Three persons were injured, one seriously, in two explosions that wrecked two Mansfield buildings early in the morning. One was a private home and the other a tenement house. Damage was placed at $20,000.

Al Capone, Chicago gangland chief, entered federal penitentiary at Atlanta to begin a 10-year term for income tax evasion.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Messenger of near Carlington escaped unhurt when their automobile struck the side of a fast Big Four passenger train at Five Points east of Marion.

Four hundred and twenty-nine barrels of flour, the first shipment in a national Red Cross program to help distressed families, arrived in Marion and Dr. N. Sifritt, county Red Cross chairman, began making plans for distribution.

Recognition for 25 years of service in the employ of the company was given Sylvester McClaskey of Avondale avenue and C. O. Kirts of Oak street by officials of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway.

John Abel was reelected secretary of Buckeye Aerie of Eagles for the nineteenth year and Russell H. Patterson was elected president at a meeting of the lodge.

Mrs. Delbert Thrush was elected president of Gamma Mu chapter of Delta Theta Tau sorority at a meeting in the sorority's club rooms on East Center street.

A May day breakfast was held by the We Bridge club with Mrs. Knute Nordquest of Thew avenue as hostess.

Miss Mary Starner, who had recently closed a season with "Blossom Time" in New York City, was visiting her parents, Dr. and Mrs. A. A. Starner of South Main street.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. James Jones of Windsor street.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Thursday, May 4, 1922.

The return of a large number of strikers to the mines of the Eagle Ridge Coal Co. near Thurmond, W. Va., was seen as evidence of a break in the ranks of striking miners who had been idle in a nationwide strike since April 1.

News report from Washington told of a 36.7 per cent increase in food costs in 32 United States cities from March of 1913 to the present time. The increase in clothing costs for the same period was listed at 75.5 per cent, housing costs, 14.2 per cent.

Sons were born to Mr. and Mrs. William Kehrwecker of Congress street and Mr. and Mrs. Harley Barry of west of Green Camp.

Marion county high schools were completing commencement arrangements, one of the schools, Green Camp, having already finished the term in graduation exercises April 14. Claridon township was to hold its commencement program on this date with Dr. John Davison of Ohio Northern university as the speaker. The candidates for diplomas were Alexander R. Kerr, Ernest Cline and Ethel Williams.

Babe Ruth underwent a tonsil and adenoid operation in St. Vincent's hospital in New York City while in an adjoining room his wife awaited a major operation, the third in a year.

A. V. Donahey, candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, spoke at a banquet of the Marion County Democratic club. He called the exemption of a large part of the nation's wealth from taxation "the great danger sign of the times." He was introduced by former Judge C. H. Norris.

Self-Destruction

We Think Gents Who Disobey Doctors' Orders Are Skating Mighty Close to Illegality.

By DAMON RUNYON

SUPPOSING you visit your doctor for a check-up and after a thorough examination he speaks to you about as follows:

"Look, Abercrombie. You have a bad heart. In fact, bad is an understatement. It is terrible. I cannot see how you are able to keep navigating with a motor in such frightful condition.

"Abercrombie, old boy," he says, "you must pull up. You must abstain from liquor and from staying up to all hours. You must avoid excitement in any form and take plenty of rest. If you fail to follow my instructions, your days are numbered. You cannot last another year. Good afternoon. You will find my bill in tomorrow's mail."

Supposing that after getting this advice, you rush out and grab a few dozen slugs of liquor, partake in an all-night session of sin-rummy, or perhaps go to the race track and prop into your cardiac region the strain of a few photo finishes. All this deliberately, you understand, and in direct violation of the medical orders and warnings.

Now then, since attempting suicide is contrary to law, would it not be proper if, upon receiving word of your derelictions, your doctor went to the nearest court and swore out a warrant for your arrest and prosecuted you on the ground that you were trying to knock yourself off in defiance of the statutes and had you fined and perhaps imprisoned?

I think it would be quite proper.

I THINK that there may even be some question here as to the culpability of the doctor if he fails to take the steps indicated but lets you go on drinking and exciting yourself, well knowing that you cannot stand it off for any great length of time—that it means sure death to you. Perhaps he could be considered an accessory to your transgression of the law against attempted suicide if a judge wanted to get right technical about the matter.

However, the poor doctors have enough troubles as it is, so I will not try to involve them too deeply in this situation. I will merely contend that their responsibility should extend to criminal proceedings against erring patients following medical warning.

Of course I do not suggest that only the possessors of bum puffs, or hearts, should be prosecuted when, after the warning, they flagrantly seek the dark beyond. I think it should apply to ulcer men, rheumatics, diebetes, gall bladder and kidney boys, and all guys with any malady whatever who attempt suicide by disregarding the advice of their doctors.

I THINK it might be an excellent idea if we could set up a branch of the FBI which would be furnished by doctors with the names of patients who had been warned of death if they violated medical instruction and which would immediately detail men to trail these patients around and pick them up the instant they transgressed.

For example, if one of these gents caught an ulcer man who had been duly warned ingesting marinated herring immediate arrest would be indicated. If the culprit had managed to get some of the herring in his mouth before the agent could put the arm on him, a sharp bopp over the bean with a blunt instrument might force him to disgorge before the damage was done. Thus, another case of self destruction would be averted.

I believe that the carrying out of my idea would not only increase longevity in the United States, but it would reduce the number of violations of the law, which, when you include cases of attempted suicide such as I have described, is truly alarming.

Old Timer Retiring

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—In recent years, death, defeat or retirement has taken a staggering toll of colorful figures in congress. Gone from Capitol Hill now are Senators Borah, Pittman and Ashurst and Congressman J. Ham Lewis, to mention only a few.

GEORGE H. TINKHAM

But of the men who have made colorful copy—reams of it—none lately will have left any greater gap in the pattern than Boston's Back Bay Republican George Holden Tinkham, who has announced his retirement after 28 consecutive years in the house.

Only two senators and six representatives have held their seats in congress longer than Tinkham and none of them has done it with so little campaigning.

A veteran traveler since his days at Harvard when he junketed to such far places as the Greek islands in the Aegean and the windswept wastes of Iceland and Spitzbergen, Tinkham has always managed to be off on one of his world jaunts while other congressmen were campaigning their heads off for reelection and he always has been voted back to his seat by substantial majorities.

One year it was a 43,000-mile swing in 221 days to the islands of the South Pacific and the lands of the China Sea. Another year, he was hanging up a record for leopard shooting in British East Africa. He came back that time with the story that his bag of six leopards would have been one greater had not his native guide restrained him from going into the brush after a wounded cat. Tinkham had asked the guide: "Why should I lose a beautiful skin like that?" The guide answered: "To save your own beautiful skin."

Tinkham's apartment in the old Arlington hotel is a veritable museum of skins, stuffed heads, elephants' tusks, art and curios collected on these expeditions between congressional sessions. His 28-year tenure of that apartment is one of the oldest and best Washington stories.

When he came here in 1914, he liked the apartment, found the rent cheap and leased it "for the duration of my stay in congress." It wasn't long before the hotel management discovered their mistake. Within a few years, rents for similar apartments were 400 per cent higher than Tinkham was paying.

Eventually, the Fraternal Order of Moose took over the hotel for national headquarters, the management went to court to try to get Tinkham ousted. The court held that only death or defeat at the polls could break Tinkham's lease.

Even after the government took over the building, Tinkham stayed on. First, it was Rexford Tugwell's rural resettlement administration, but they couldn't resettle Tinkham. Now the army occupies the building, and so does Tinkham.

His long fights for civil liberties, for strict U. S. neutrality, for non-participation in the League of Nations have kept him in the forefront of congress. But probably none of his battles was so stormy as his fight against prohibition and then for repeal.

During prohibition, when he was starting off on one of his junkets, he always announced solemnly to the newsmen: "Now I'm going down to the department of justice and tell them to keep an eye on my collar until I get back."

Back up the BOYS Behind the BOYS

Order DEFENSE SAVINGS STAMPS delivered to your home regularly each week through your carrier boy

THE MORE STAMPS YOU BUY, THE MORE PLANES WILL FLY

Start an Army of Dollars marching NOW against the enemy. Buy Defense Savings Bonds and Stamps—the quickest, surest way that everyone can help to win the war. Remember that tanks and planes and guns cost money. Much of this money must come from the people—voluntarily, in the American Way. Not as a gift, but as a loan, to be repaid with interest—$4.00 for every $3.00 you invest—for that, too, is the American Way. But there is not a moment to lose. Your money is needed NOW, without delay. It must be put to work at once to defeat those who have declared war upon us—those who have killed our people in cold blood; and who, even as you read this, are plotting desperately to destroy this America we love.

You needn't be rich to do your part. Defense Bonds cost as little as $18.75, and you can start buying Defense Bonds by buying Defense Stamps, at 10¢. When your newspaper carrier calls to collect this week, give him your order for as many 10¢ Defense Stamps as you can afford each week. Your signed order will be all that is necessary to have him deliver and collect for the stamps regularly each week, until ordered by you to discontinue.

How Your Defense Stamp Money Is Used to Help Win the War

10c IN DEFENSE SAVINGS STAMPS will pay for 5 cartridges
25c IN DEFENSE SAVINGS STAMPS will provide a soldier's mess kit
$1.50 IN DEFENSE SAVINGS STAMPS pays for a first aid kit
$2.00 IN DEFENSE SAVINGS STAMPS is what one blanket costs
$6.00 IN DEFENSE SAVINGS STAMPS will buy one anti-tank shell
$10.00 IN DEFENSE SAVINGS STAMPS will buy two steel helmets

MAGIC CHOCOLATE FROSTING

2 squares (2 oz.) unsweetened chocolate, 1½ cups (15 oz. can) sweetened condensed milk, 1 tablespoon water.

Melt chocolate in top of double boiler. Add milk, stir over boiling water 5 minutes until it thickens. Add water. Cool. Spread on cold cup cakes. When firm add lettering in white frosting, using pastry tube. This is enough for 24 cup cakes.

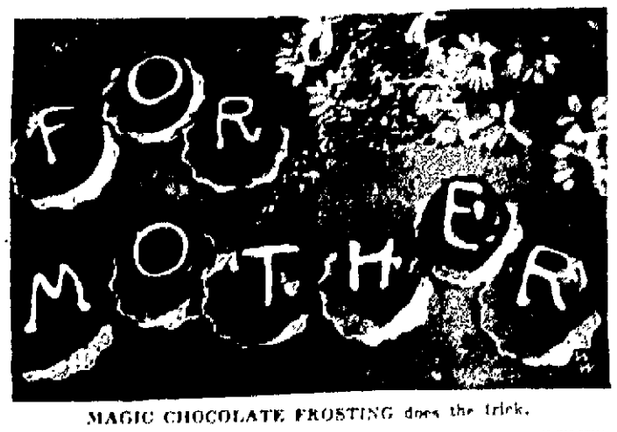
By MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE
Wide World Food Editor

Nothing will please mother more, when her day comes around than to have a meal, with part, or even all of the cooking done by her family. This lets in the boys too—and don't leave out dad—as there are many things that they can do to help make this important day run smoothly.

So here are some good things to eat that mother and the rest of her family will like. The dishes are moderately priced, just hard enough to be interesting to prepare, and are at home in this season.

Nut Muffins: Mix together 1¼ cups flour, ½ cup cornmeal, 3 tablespoons sugar, 4 teaspoons baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 egg, beaten, 1 cup milk, 1/3 cup broken nuts and 3 tablespoons fat, melted. Half-fill greased muffin pans and bake 15 minutes in a moderately hot oven (375). Serve hot. Mix these ingredients just enough to hold them together. Over-mixing will produce a tough muffin. This amount makes 8 or 9 muffins of medium size.

Chops Savory: Select 4 thick veal or pork chops (rib suggested). Sprinkle with flour and place in shallow, greased baking dish. Cover with these ingredients, blended: 2 tablespoons each chopped onions, celery and green pepper, 3 tablespoons flour, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1½ cups cooked lima beans and 2 cups tomatoes. Add 3 tablespoons butter. Pour over chops. Cover and bake 50 minutes in moderate oven. Uncover and bake 15 minutes to thicken and brown well on the top. Carry the baked dish right to the dining table.



MAGIC CHOCOLATE FROSTING does the trick.

Some Talk About Spring and Salads; Also Spinach

Dear Friends in Marion: Spring and salads. Those two words sound as inseparable as Christmas and candy or Christmas cookies.

Part of the Springtime salad attraction is the eye-appeal of the young green things out of the garden, crisped and chilled and dressed to perfection. The salad bowl can be as bracing as a cold shower — and now we know that its delicious greens are full of vitamins and packed with indispensable minerals, among them manganese, which is said to be beneficial to the disposition. So cheer up with salads.

In the last year, nutritionists have had much to say on the virtues of raw spinach in salad. But many homemakers hold back, unconvinced, although they use all the other greens with enthusiasm—from endive to watercress. There is double incentive to explore the salad possibilities of raw spinach just now, for this is the season when the body must needs its mineral contribution — and the new spinach is at its tender best.

And don't think that men will balk at munching raw spinach, for a man has been telling nutrition groups from coast to coast how to serve this salad green—and it usually was the salad-mixing males who went up after the lecture to get the recipe. Chef George M. Mardikian of San Francisco is the internationally known food authority who has been sharing his salad secrets voluntarily with clubs and defense classes.

Must Be Washed

Thorough washing, the cardinal rule for cooked spinach, is a number one "must" for the salad green. Probably many of the diners who balk at spinach salad have had the misfortune to crunch on hidden sand or grit.

Plunge first in lukewarm water, then lift the spinach quickly into a separate cold bath. Wash through several waters. Trim, drain and toss to remove surplus moisture. Draining is important, too; a "runny" salad spoils dressing and texture.

Cut in 1-inch lengths; season with a blend of pure olive oil and lemon juice. The oil may be omitted. This marinating is done just before adding the dressing. The spinach may be prepared, lightly wrapped in waxed paper and stored in the refrigerator until time to add the dressing, which is done just before serving. Have ready several hard-cooked eggs and ripe, chilled tomatoes. The savory dressing, of course, is the flavor secret, and I am giving you the originator's recipe, which is equally delicious with any crisp greens or mixed vegetable salads.

Lightly mix the cut spinach with dressing and desired number of chopped hard-cooked eggs, rieing the egg yolks to top each portion. Garnish with wedges of fresh tomato and cooked asparagus tips. Make the (uncooked) dressing this way:

Omar's Dressing

One egg, unbeaten, 1-3 teaspoon dry mustard; 1-3 teaspoon white pepper, 2 teaspoons salt, 3 teaspoons paprika, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 cup tomato sauce or puree, 1 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce, 1 pint salad oil, 1 cup vinegar, 1 cup warm water.

Mix the raw egg and all dry ingredients, gradually adding tomato sauce or puree. Blend well. Slowly add oil and vinegar, alternately. Beat until mixture turns into dressing form; finally add warm water a little at a time. This yields one full quart of piquant dressing.

Store in a covered glass jar in a cool place. The main talking point about this salad special is that it keeps months under even refrigeration. If the dressing becomes "pasty" after long storage, thin with a little warm water when needed.

Speaking of salads, all experts agree that one common sin is manhandling. A salad that looks too much handled is an abomination to the artist whose soul is in his work. Salads should be tossed and lifted and handled.

In the childhood of the present generation of young homemakers, salad dressings in America were limited to a few varieties. One was the "boiled" dressing made from flour, sugar and seasonings, the latter added to a boiled dressing which depended on flour or cornstarch for the thickening and contained sugar, vinegar and a few condiments. The hot-sour dressing was poured over dandelion greens or garden lettuce, making a hot salad, or was used on potato salad. The boiled dressing was designed for potato salad or coleslaw. There was one other choice, spiced vinegar, used as a marinade for tomatoes or sliced cucumbers.

Today's homemaker literally has hundreds of recipes available—including vitamin-rich citrus juices. Lemon juice now replaces vinegar in many recipes. She also can call on a wide variety of well-blended commercial dressings.

When you buy mayonnaise, remember that it may be varied to suit your salad. A few chopped fresh chives or chopped olives add interest. Blend whipped cream with mayonnaise for fruit salad. And if you are using commercial French dressing for your raw spinach salad, follow the seasoning suggestions in Omar's dressing, not forgetting the dry mustard and some extra lemon juice.

Now for the salad bowl, sharp knives and sharp appetite. Salad days are here.

Mrs. Eleanor O. Kennedy

TEMPTING RECIPES

Banana Apple Scallop

6 tart apples, 1 cup water, ½ cup granulated sugar, ¼ teaspoon cinnamon, ½ teaspoon nutmeg, 6 firm bananas, (all yellow), 1½ cups graham cracker crumbs, ½ cup chopped nut meats, butter.

Peel apples, cut into quarters and remove cores. Add water, granulated sugar and spices to apples. Simmer until apples are tender. Peel bananas, cut into ¼-inch slices, and add to hot apple mixture. Turn into a well-buttered shallow baking dish.

Mix together crumbs, brown sugar and nuts, sprinkle over fruit mixture. Dot crumbs with butter. Bake about 20 minutes in hot oven 400 degrees F. Serve 6 to 8.

Serve with hot lemon sauce, plain or sweetened whipped cream.

Note: Granulated sugar may be replaced with ¼ cup honey or molasses.

• • •

Honey French Toast

Serve it for breakfast or luncheon.

2 eggs, well beaten, 1 pint milk, ¼ cup honey, sprinkling of grated nutmeg or mace, 6 to 8 slices bread (several days old), ½ teaspoon salt.

Beat eggs until light. Warm the milk slightly and blend well with the honey. Add the salt, mace and beaten eggs and stir well. Cut bread about ½ inch thick. Dip each slice into the milk and egg mixture and place on a hot griddle that has been rubbed well with shortening. Brown evenly on both sides, serve with butter and honey. Jam or marmalade are welcome with honey toast.

• • •

Bits O' Kisses

½ cup sweetened condensed milk, 1½ cups shredded cocoanut, ½ teaspoon baking powder, 1 heaping cup chocolate bits.

Mix together condensed milk, cocoanut, and baking powder. Add chocolate bits and drop from a teaspoon a little distance apart on lightly greased cookie sheet. Bake in a slow oven 325 degrees F. 25 minutes until delicately brown around the edges. Yields 2 dozen.

Sweet Thrift

Save syrup from canned fruits to sweeten other fruit, pudding sauces or beverages. A pinch of salt increases the sweetening power of sugar in cooked food. Remember this when stewing rhubarb.

Correct Use of the Telephone in War Time

War-time activities of government, armed forces, industries and civilians are making tremendous demands for telephone service.

With war-time shortages of materials and equipment, we must handle soaring volumes of calls with practically no expansion of present telephone plant.

To maintain good service under these conditions, the cooperation of all telephone users is needed. We must save seconds, avoid wasted calls, make every call count!

The way you use your telephone can help us speed your service and that of all telephone users. So please read and remember the following simple suggestions:

9 WAYS YOU CAN HELP

1. Use your telephone directory.

If you're not sure of the number, please look it up! Guessing results in a wrong number, a wasted call, delay for you and annoyance for the person called in error.

2. Dial with care.

Don't start dialing until you hear the "begin-to-dial" signal—that steady hum or "dial tone." Otherwise, you get a wrong number or no number at all.

3. Speak clearly, directly into the mouthpiece.

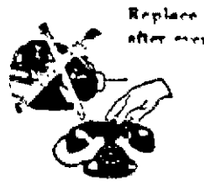
Mumbling causes mistakes. Repeating what you've said wastes time. Talk in a normal tone with your lips one-half inch from the transmitter for best results.

4. Don't call "Information".

More than half the calls to "Information" are for numbers which are listed in the directory. These unnecessary calls waste the time of busy operators and tie up the lines needlessly.

5. Cooperate on party lines.

A party line is a partnership. You share the cost and share the line. Please keep conversations reasonably brief. Don't monopolize the line. "Do unto others . . ."

6. Be sure to hang up.


Replace the telephone carefully after every call. Otherwise all telephones on your line are out of service and important calls may be delayed. Be sure that books or other objects don't keep the telephone off the hook.

7. Answer your telephone promptly.

One second saved on each call made in Pennsylvania would save 20,000 hours of telephone time daily! So please answer promptly. But when you make a call, give the other fellow time to reach the telephone.

8. Avoid the rush hours.

"Telephone traffic jams" sometimes occur during the busy hours of 9:30 to 11:30 A. M., 2 to 4 P. M. and 7 to 8 P. M. When convenient, please make your calls at other hours. You'll get faster service—especially on Long Distance calls.

9. Don't telephone during or following an emergency.

During and for an hour after an air raid, explosion, fire or other general emergency, please keep the lines clear for essential calls to police, fire departments, doctors and civilian defense agencies.

Your cooperation helps speed this vital war-time service!

Marion Co. Singers in Concert at O.W.U.

Three Marion students will participate in the Ohio Wesleyan university spring musical concert Saturday night, May 9, at 8:15, according to a news report from the university. They are Harold Fralich of 387 Blaine avenue, Billie Ruth of near Marion and Miss Jane Thomas of 337 South Main street.

Approximately 250 students, representing the a cappella choir, the singers' club and the symphony orchestra will take part in the concert. Rexford Keller and Charles J. Tesar of the music department, will direct.

By smashing atoms a University of California scientist has added four artificial radioactive substances to the already known list, bringing the total to about 350.

STEEL PLATE OUTPUT TO REACH NEW HIGH

1,000,000 Tons Forecast as Production for May.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, May 4—Output of steel plates this month is expected to reach a new high of around 1,000,000 tons, with both the maritime commission and the navy pressing for deliveries, the magazine "Steel" said today.

This probable May output would be 100,000 to 125,000 tons above the April estimate.

"In general no plates are available under A-1 priority unless covered by special directives," the review added. "Bars and sheets are close to plates in volume of requirements for war purposes and top priorities have accumulated to an extent that general allocation seems likely to be applied soon.

"Steady flow of scrap at the increased volume of the past few weeks is maintaining steel production at high rate in practically all centers and the situation seems likely to continue through the summer."

Nationwide steelmaking operations last week were computed at 99 per cent of capacity, up ½ point and the highest mark since 1941—but representing a much larger tonnage than in the 1941 month because of increased capacity. Cincinnati district was up 1½ points to 89 per cent, Cleveland up 6 to 93½, Detroit up 5 to 82. Unchanged district rates were Youngstown 94, Pittsburgh 85½, Wheeling 82½.

An official board will be organized in Palestine to govern the production, grading and handling, shipment and advertisement of citrus fruits.

Boston Beats Tribe 8-4 to Snap Indian Win Streak at 13; Reds Lose

Infield Errors Cost Tribesmen Fourth Loss of Season; Yankees Take Two from White Sox.

By The Associated Press

It wasn't weak hitting, nor pitching, that snapped the Indians' winning streak at 13 games and gave the Boston Red Sox an 8 to 4 victory. It was the fielding.

The Tribe registered 13 hits yesterday in the first of the three games here, three more than the Red Sox. Al Smith, who was charged with the loss, had allowed only a few infield scratches until his mates' errors brought him to grief.

But Cleveland had the jitters, and that cost them the ball game. Boston scored two runs in the first inning without a hit after two were out, on a walk and two successive errors by Jeff Heath. He muffed fly balls twice.

Fateful Fifth

Then in the fifth, and after the Indians had picked up one run, the trouble began. With one out Johnny Pesky singled for Boston's fifth hit of the game, and Ted Williams got another. Smith hit Jimmy Foxx, filling the bases. Jim Tabor tapped an easy grounder to Ken Keltner for what should have been a double play to end the inning. But Ray Mack, at second, dropped the ball and Boston got two runs. Keltner failed to get Pete Fox's grounder, another run came in, and the pitching duties were turned over to Steve Gromek. Bobby Doerr's triple registered two more, and Bobby scored on an infield out.

By that time it was too late to catch up. The Tribe got two runs in the seventh on Fabian Gaffke's pinch single, a walk by Roy Weatherly and hits by Oris Hockett and Keltner. Their last tally came in the eighth when Oscar Grimes' pinch hit plated Mack.

Al Milnar was Cleveland's pitching choice today, against the Sox' Dick Newsome.

York Homers

Rudy York's sixth and seventh home runs of the season carried the Detroit Tigers to an 8-7 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics, but Phil Marchildon pitched a sparkling two-hitter in the nightcap to give the A's an even break 1-0.

The New York Yankees snapped a deadlock with the Red Sox and moved to within a half game of the second-place Tigers by sweeping a bargain bill from the Chicago White Sox, 6-4 and 3-1.

The St. Louis Browns and Washington Senators divided their double bill, Washington taking the opener 9-8 on Stan Spence's two-run triple in the ninth and St. Louis coming back for a 5-1 decision in the second with the help of effective pitching by Al Hollingsworth.

FOUR NO-HIT GAMES

By The Associated Press

FORT RECOVERY, O., May 2—Fort Recovery High school, with four no-hit, no-run contests to its credit—two of them perfect games—tucked away the Mercer county baseball championship today and got set for a shot at the district title next week at Defiance.

NEW MT. UNION MENTOR

By The Associated Press

ALLIANCE, O., May 4—Willard Pendergrass, 31-year-old Shaker Heights High school coach, was named head football coach at Mt. Union college, succeeding Harry Geltz.

By The Associated Press

Brooklyn's champion Dodgers still rule the roost in the National league, but the St. Louis Cardinals and Pittsburgh Pirates have been hanging on the ropes in what is rapidly shaping up as the hottest three-way argument since junior learned to drive the family automobile.

Still reeling from the effects of a one-two punch they absorbed at Pittsburgh, Durocher's daring staggered into St. Louis yesterday and were flattened twice by a Cardinal team that finally discovered what bats were for.

A total of 135,654 customers paid their way into American league yesterday and 87,000 turned out in the National league. Yankee stadium in New York boasted the season's greatest throng, 65,604.

At St. Louis, 1,871 watched the Cardinals clip the Dodgers 11-10, in a long-winded opener, 7-inning and 4-2 in the afterpiece which was held to five and a half innings because the daylight ran out.

The double defeat reduced Brooklyn's margin to a single game over the second-place Pittsburgh Pirates, who missed their chance to share the lead by dividing a doubleheader with the Boston Braves.

The Dodgers and Cards went at it hammer and tongs, but Cardinal Cather Ken O'Dea decided the issue in the opening game with a grandslam homer that routed Whitlow Wyatt in the first inning and a three-run double that broke a 10-10 tie in the seventh.

Higbe Walks Two

Kirby Higbe issued a trio of untimely walks in losing the second game. With the bases filled on passes in the fourth inning, Jimmy Brown tripled to bring in all the runs St. Louis needed, and came home himself on an outfield fly.

Both managers and three players were chased from the field for differing with the umpires. Leo Durocher and Billy Southworth were waved to the showers in the opener, along with Freddie Fitzsimmons of the Brooks, while Dodgers Wyatt and Dolph Camilli were banished during the nightcap.

Pittsburgh downed Boston 6-1 in the first game behind the seven-hit pitching of Max Butcher, but the Braves came back with a 14-hit attack to square accounts, 12-3.

At Chicago, the Cubs downed the Philadelphia Phils, 9-5, but the Phils took the second game, 8-1.

Winners of only three in nine at the halfway mark in their first extended home stand, the Cincinnati Reds tried today to even their series with the New York Giants.

Ray Starr, 35-year-old righthander, was assigned to try for his second victory against no defeats. Fiddler Bill McGee, with a record of one and one, was the Giants' probable hurler.

The Cincinnati Reds roster stood at 26 today—only one over the May 15 limitation—as a result of the sale for undisclosed amounts of Outfielder Linie Kov to the Philadelphia Phils and Outfielder Frank Secory to the Milwaukee Brewers of the American Association.

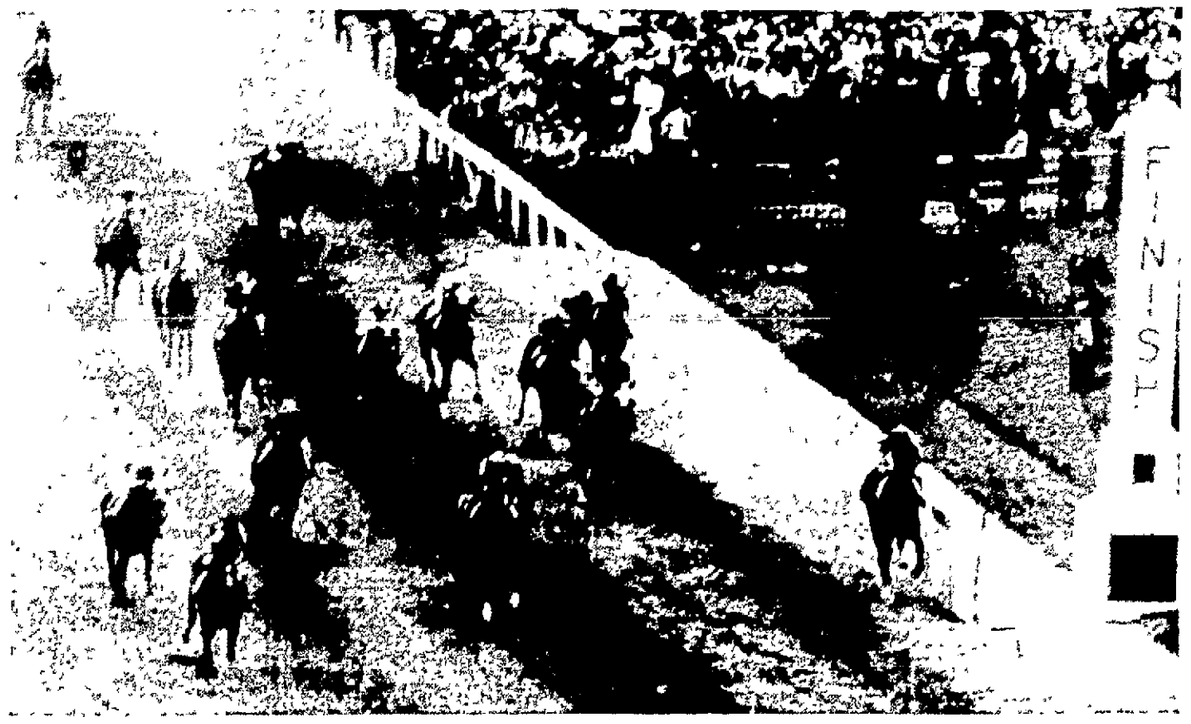
SPORTS
THE MARION STAR

FIRST TIME FOR LOUIS

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK—Joe Louis will make his first defense of the world heavyweight boxing championship when he takes a challenger almost before long, Mike Jacobs, promoter of the fistic sport, announced today. The former eight heavyweight champion will defend his crown against Buddy Baer, one of the two remaining leading contenders for the title, on June 18 in Washington, D. C., Jacobs said.

As Shut Out Scored Kentucky Derby Win



Shut-Out, son of the mighty Equipoise is shown on the outside as he galloped to a two-length victory in the 68th annual Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs before an estimated 65-000 racing fans. The winner, owned by Mrs. Payne Whitney, was ridden by Wayne Wright. Time for the race was 2 minutes 4 2-5 seconds. Alsab, directly behind Shut-Out, was second in photo finish, Valdina Orphan, No. 16 to right of Shut-Out, was third, and With Regrets, No. 17 on rail, was fourth.

BREWERS DEFEAT COLUMBUS TWICE

Win 4-2, 4-3 as Other Teams Are Idle.

By The Associated Press

Three American Association doubleheaders were postponed yesterday giving the clubs a chance to lean back—but not with ease—and watch the Milwaukee express keep widening the gap.

Everyone knew the Brewers possessed power before the season began and that's why most ballbirds chose them to wind up in second place. But unless some of the clubs get back on the beam, Manager Charley Grimm's outfit might get out of reach.

The Brewers shot through to six straight wins yesterday by taking a twin bill from Columbus 4-2 and 4-3. They are undefeated in 12 games at home and have won 14 of 18 starts.

The only crew near their heels is Kansas City, whose doubleheader with Toledo was postponed as were the scheduled bargain bills between Indianapolis and St. Paul and Louisville and Minneapolis.

Sun Again Considered Preakness' Best Bet

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, May 4 — Because several unexpected things happened in the Kentucky Derby, the 52nd running of the Preakness at ancient Pimlico Saturday shapes up as a pretty fair race.

First of the unexpecteds in the Churchill Downs mile and a quarter classic was the victory of Shut Out.

The last son of the great Equipoise from Mrs. Payne Whitney Greentree stable was just going out for the exercise, leaving the task of winning the $64,225 purse to his more famous stablemate, Devil Diver.

At least that was the way most of the experts and laymen figured it. Hadn't Eddie Arcaro, the country's No. 1 rider, had his choice of the two horses and selected Devil Diver?

The second of the unexpecteds was Alsab Remembe, sure-the winner of ten straight races as a two-year-old, winter book favorite and then a complete flop?

Alsab Rids

He had not shown enough to indicate he even would be in the money. But Al Sabath's bargain colt was pounds the best as the race was run. He was hit as he came out of the gate, ran into a couple of blind switches going around the first turn and then, with Basil James piloting him in and out of the pack he really turned on the steam from the half-mile post on but had to be content with second money.

The bid left him two and a half lengths back of Shut Out, who stayed close to the early pace and then pulled into command in the stretch.

Then there was Requested, Ben Whitaker's Texas-owned chestnut, who was the biggest disappointment of the Derby after being backed into second choice by a crowd estimated all the way from 60,000 to Col. Matt Winn's figure of 100,000.

Requested outran only one horse in the field of 15 but Blackie McCoole, his trainer, said he had a rough trip and refused to extend himself.

The Greentree pair, Alsab and Requested, along with Mrs. Barclay Douglas' Fair Call, William Woodward's Apache, Valdina Orphan and Hollywood and possibly William DuPont Jr.'s Fairy Manah are headed for Pimlico.

The mile and three sixteenths of the Preakness should be right down Valdina Orphan's alley but it also suits Warren Wright's Sun Again.

Sun Again originally was entered in the Derby although Wright and his trainer, Ben Jones, were never quite sure that the colt would parade to the post. Jones said Sun Again was a week or two from peak form so he was scratched.

The stablemate of Whirlaway, last year's triple crown winner, was shipped to Baltimore yesterday but Jones still was undecided whether his charge would go after the $60,000 purse. It all depends on Sun Again's workouts this week.

MID-ATLATNIC LOOP OPENS WITH 6 TEAMS

Springfield, Erie, Zanesville Win Openers.

By The Associated Press

The diminished Middle Atlantic league, loaded with boys too young for the draft, is off on its 16th campaign.

Six clubs, in place of the customary eight, staged the inaugural yesterday. The absentees were Akron, 1941 champion, and seventh-place Youngstown.

Erie, last year's runner-up and a favorite for the flag this season, got off to a bad start, losing 5 to 2 to Charleston. Don Bayliss kept eight hits well scattered in handcuffing the Pennsylvanians.

William (Tiny) Osborne pitched seven-hit ball and knocked in two runs to lead Springfield to a 6 to 3 victory over Canton. The Indians collected all their runs in a wild sixth, and Canton couldn't overcome the margin.

Zanesville's Cubs, taken over by a syndicate of local business men only Saturday, whipped Dayton 5 to 3. The sale was announced by Charles Wynn, hotel operator, who previously had acquired the club from Akron interests. He will continue as club president. Jack Warner is playing manager and vice president.

Marion Hawks in Winning Role, Edge Bucyrus Moose

King Bacon and Darrell Roseberry Hurl No-Hit Ball for Seven Innings; Season To Open Sunday.

The Marion Hawks, one of six teams in the newly-organized Ohio State semi-pro baseball league, turned in an 11-9 victory over the Bucyrus Moose in a practice game yesterday afternoon at Lincoln park.

The Hawks open their league schedule next Sunday against the Galion Jaycees. Manager Roseberry said today that King Bacon, who hurled no-hit ball for four innings yesterday, would start on the mound. Either Ted Anderson or John Paulino will be behind the plate.

The Hawks rolled the invaders in order through the first seven innings. Bacon tossed the first four innings without a single base hit, Roseberry relieved him in the fifth and streched the no-hit streak to six and two-thirds innings before First Baseman Bertke rapped a scratch single. John Lasko started the eighth and allowed seven runs to cross before being relieved by Roseberry. The Bucs rallied two more in the ninth on two straight doubles and a long fly ball.

The Hawks scored two runs in the first inning and fourth innings, one in the sixth and one more in the ninth.

In the Marion line-up were Ted Anderson and John Paulino, catchers; King Bacon, Darrell Roseberry, pitchers; Max Lasko, Bob Braham and Wendell Bertke, base; Max Roseberry and Francis Robbins, second base; Don Cook, shortstop; Joe Paul, third base; Gail Stout, left field; George Heege and Robert Crowell, center field and Hodges and Hilt, right field.

The Bucyrus line-up included McBride, catcher; D. Lapple, pitcher; Bolting, first base; F. Myers, second base; Drew, shortstop; W. Lapple, third base; H. Lapple and B. Myers, left field; Kamble, center field; and W. Lapply, right field.

Snatches of Sports

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
Wide World Sports Columnist

NEW YORK, May 4 — Walter Hagen starts his "comeback" today when he hooks up with actor Bob Hope, Jimmy Demaret and Mayor Jeffries of Detroit in a war relief match at Detroit. You can look for Sir Walter to finish second in that field. Report from Louisville says Ben Jones' reason for scratching Sun Again from the Derby was not because he didn't figure the colt was ready but because he didn't like the position he drew. Sun Again likely will be a Preakness starter although Ben claimed he wasn't sure when he shipped him to Pimlico. Jack Sharkey is listed to referee the Red Cochran-Garvey Young navy relief fight at Boston Friday. Wonder how the old gob will feel if he has to give Marine Young the decision over Sailor Cochrane?

Fisherman's Wisdom—Four Akron anglers who have been traveling to Canada every summer for a good many reasons, ran into a real problem this spring. For rather obvious reasons, none of them wanted to follow the usual custom of hauling the whole party in his car. Finally one came up with an idea. They all use the same size tires, so each contributed his spare to be put on one car for the trip.

Drop Publication of "Social Justice"

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 4—Publishers of Social Justice, national weekly magazine founded by Father Charles E. Coughlin, failed to appear today at a hearing to determine whether its second class mailing privileges should be revoked.

Calvin W. Hassel, assistant solicitor of the postoffice department, said he was informed that publication of the weekly would be discontinued and that its mailing privilege would be abandoned. Hassel said Father Coughlin had approved the suspension of the magazine, which Attorney General Biddle asserted last month was "clearly seditious."

A panel of three assistant postmasters general had assembled at the postoffice hearing room to hear the case, inaugurated by Postmaster General Walker at Biddle's instigation.

Rev. E. L. Fox, pastor of Greenwood Evangelical church was guest speaker at a meeting of the Old Age Pension Society of Marion county Saturday at the community center. Arthur Hershner, was in charge, and the meeting opened with a song, "America," by the group, salute to the Flag and reports of officers. Charles McCombs gave a report on a convention held at Columbus April 30 and stated that T. J. Johnson, state president, who has been ill, was able to be present. Talks were given by Mr Crow of Columbus and R. J. Jeffries of Hubbard. A guest from Mansfield, 86 years old, entertained with violin music. Mr. Hershner gave a talk in which it was urged that shops emphasize the sale of bonds to their employes. Mrs. McCombs gave a report on money collected for gasoline and Mr. Porter reported on pension recipients.

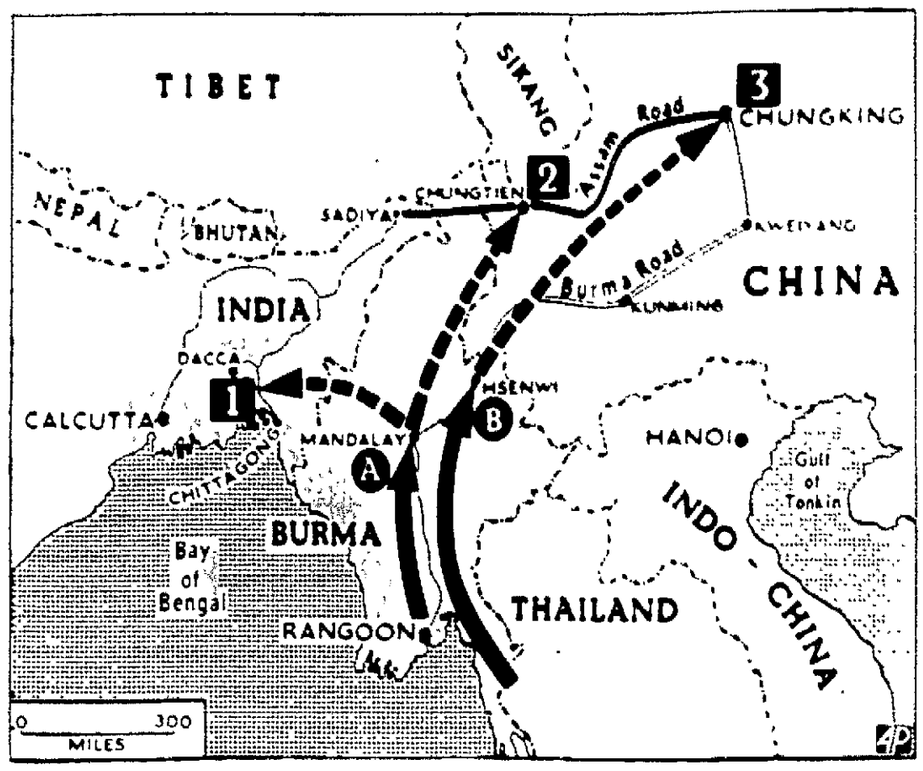
LATEST DRIVES OF JAPS THREATEN CHINA ANEW



The Japanese northward drives (black arrows) in Burma, having reached Mandalay (A) on the west and Hsenwi (B) on the east, cast China's grave new peril into clear light. Advices from Chungking said there no longer was any doubt that the enemy was smashing eastward toward China rather than westward toward India (1). It was believed that the Japanese would try to sever the remote Assam road (2) linking India and China, now that the Burma road had been cut. Axis reports hinted that the Japanese goal might be Chungking (3), Free China's capital.

Miss Florence Heinlen Weds Clarence Balliett

Special to The Star

GALION, May 1—At a pretty home wedding Saturday Florence Heinlen, daughter of County Commissioner and Mrs. Lawrence S. Heinlen, became the bride of Clarence Balliett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grover Balliett. Carmella Heinlen attended the bride while Clayton Balliett served as best man. Betty Ann Balliett, niece of the groom was ring bearer.

Rev. J. H. Patterson, pastor of the Mt. Zion U. B. church read the ceremony. Prior to the ceremony Elizabeth Graham of Wyandot, accompanied by Eva Vollrath, of Bucyrus, sang.

The wedding dinner was at the home of the bride, after which the couple left for a short wedding trip. Mrs. Balliett is a graduate of Mt. Zion high school and of the Marion business college. Mr. Balliett attended Galion schools and is employed with the H. G. Staeffer Trucking company in Wooster.

10,721 Cheer Hollywood Stars in Cleveland Show

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, May 4 — The stars and starlets of the Hollywood victory caravan packed 10,721 Clevelanders into public hall last night and the audience did its best to make good on Bob Hope's home-town boast.

Hope, who shared honors as master of ceremonies with Cary Grant, claimed that he had told his fellow artists his former home was the best in the circuit for quick response and hearty appreciation. There was plenty of applause right throught the show.

The gross gate was $31,667. In previous one-night stands for the army and navy relief funds in Washington, Boston and Philadelphia the caravan raised $137,000.

Opening of the 1942 Mar-O-Del golf season finds the annual, ego ... tournament getting under way. Beginning on April 24 and continuing until May 24, the tourney at present has 16 men entrants and four women, with may others expecting to follow suit. In the men's division the current co-leaders are Don Pfeiffer and Bob Graham with 33s. Within reasonable chance of overtaking them is Sam Sharrock with 37. Heading the women is Betty Rice who has 46. The ringer tournament scores are not merely for one round but are computed on the basis of all scores turned in by the contestants for the duration of the tourney. If a player betters his score on a hole of all his previous rounds those strokes are subtracted from his standing nine-hole score. About the best score in these tournaments was turned by Bud Baker last year with a 28. From the cards posted by Mar-O-Del golfers in this tournament the handicap of each player can be fixed. Instead of the customary golf balls and other equipment formerly presented as prizes in the tourney, defense stamps will be given this year.

During the past offseason the Marion public links layout underwent a marked improvement. Because of the present golf ball shortage the once heavy rough was cut down to approximately the same level as the fairway. However, nothing could be done in regard to the large woods on the first hole which has long been a nemesis for unfortunate hookgolfers. On every green new poles and flags have been installed. For the sake of weary divot-daggers benches have been placed on all tees. Other improvements have been made around the tees to insure good footing.

These features plus excellent golfing weather attracted a large crowd of Marion and vicinity linksmen during the past weekend to the 3,177-yard municipal course. For so early in the season the number of golfers was unusual and larger groups in the future are anticipated in view Marion's expanding population.

Committee Says Radio Meets War Challenge

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., May 4—For the first time in its history, American radio is meeting the challenge of world war, a committee on awards observed today at the thirteenth annual Institute for Education by Radio.

The committee, announcing awards for the American exhibition of recordings of educational radio programs, added:

"The changing attitudes and activities of men have forced radio to assume new responsibilities, which have been accompanied by new opportunities for service. * * *

The committee cited four programs for "unusual merit"—the eye-witness account of the sinking of Britain's fighting ship Repulse, by Cecil Brown of the Columbia Broadcasting System; the program titled "Blood Donor," broadcast by station KFI, Los Angeles, the play, "Johnny Quinn, U. S. N." by Arch Oboler, and the Canadian Broadcasting corporation's war program, "Quiet Victory."

Boston Beats Tribe 8-4 to Snap Indian Win Streak at 13; Reds Lose

Infield Errors Cost Tribesmen Fourth Loss of Season; Yankees Take Two from White Sox.

By The Associated Press

It wasn't weak hitting, nor pitching, that snapped the Indians' winning streak at 13 games and gave the Boston Red Sox an 8 to 4 victory. It was the fielding.

The Tribe registered 13 hits yesterday in the first of the three games here, three more than the Red Sox. Al Smith, who was charged with the loss, had allowed only a few infield scratches until his mates' errors brought him to grief.

But Cleveland had the jitters, and that cost them the ball game. Boston scored two runs in the first inning without a hit after two were out, on a walk and two successive errors by Jeff Heath. He muffed fly balls twice.

Fateful Fifth

Then in the fifth, and after the Indians had picked up one run, the trouble began. With one out Johnny Pesky singled for Boston's fifth hit of the game, and Ted Williams got another. Smith hit Jimmy Foxx, filling the bases. Jim Tabor lapped an easy grounder to Ken Keltner for what should have been a double play to end the inning. But Ray Mack, at second, dropped the ball and Boston got two runs. Keltner failed to get Pete Fox's grounder, another run came in, and the pitching duties were turned over to Steve Gromek. Bobby Doerr's triple registered two more, and Bobby scored on an infield out.

By that time it was too late to catch up. The Tribe got two runs in the seventh on Fabian Gaffke's pinch single, a walk by Roy Weatherly and hits by Oris Hockett and Keltner. Their last tally came in the eighth when Oscar Grimes' pinch hit plated Mack.

Al Milnar was Cleveland's pitching choice today, against the Sox' Dick Newsome.

York Homers

Rudy York's sixth and seventh home runs of the season carried the Detroit Tigers to an 8-7 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics, but Phil Marchildon pitched a sparkling two-hitter in the nightcap to give the A's an even break 1-0.

The New York Yankees snapped a deadlock with the Red Sox and moved to within a half game of the second-place Tigers by sweeping a bargain bill from the Chicago White Sox, 6-4 and 3-1.

The St. Louis Browns and Washington Senators divided their double bill, Washington taking the opener 9-8 on Stan Spence's two-run triple in the ninth and St. Louis coming back for a 5-1 decision in the second with the help of effective pitching by Al Hollingsworth

FOUR NO-HIT GAMES

By The Associated Press

FORT RECOVERY, O., May 2—Fort Recovery High school, with four no-hit, no-run contests to its credit—two of them perfect games—tucked away the Mercer county baseball championship today and got set for a shot at the district title next week at Defiance.

NEW MT. UNION MENTOR

By The Associated Press

Brooklyn's champion Dodgers still rule the roost in the National league, but the St Louis Cardinals and Pittsburgh Pirates have them hanging on the ropes in what is rapidly shaping up as the hottest three-way argument since junior learned to drive the family automobile.

Still reeling from the effects of a one-two punch they ab orbed at Pittsburgh, Durocher's dandies staggered into St Louis yesterday and were flattened twice by a Cardinal team that finally discovered what bats were for.

A total of 135,651 customers paid their way into American league yesterday and 87,000 turned out in the National league. Yankee stadium in New York boosted the season's greatest throng 65,804

At St Louis, 1,871 watched the Cardinals clip the Dodgers, 11-10, in a long-winded opening game and 4-2 in the afterpiece which was held to five and a half innings because the daylight ran out.

The double defeat reduced Brooklyn's margin to a single game over the second-place Pittsburgh Pirates, who missed their chance to share the lead by dividing a doubleheader with the Boston Braves.

The Dodgers and Cards went at it hammer and tongs, but Cardinal Catcher Ken O'Dea decided the issue in the opening game with a grandslam homer that routed Whitlow Wyatt in the first inning and a three-run double that broke a 10-10 tie in the seventh.

Higbe Walks Two

Kirby Higbe issued a trio of untimely walks in losing the second game. With the bases filled on passes in the fourth inning, Jimmy Brown tripled to bring in all the runs St. Louis needed, and came home himself on an outfield fly.

Both managers and three players were chased from the field for differing with the umpires. Leo Durocher and Billy Southworth were waved to the showers in the opener, along with Freddie Fitzsimmons of the Brooks, while Dodgers Wyatt and Dolph Camilli were banished during the nightcap.

Pittsburgh downed Boston 6-1 in the first game behind the seven-hit pitching of Max Butcher, but the Braves came back with a 14-hit attack to square accounts, 12-3.

At Chicago, the Cubs downed the Philadelphia Phils, 9-5, but the Phils took the second game, 8-1.

Winners of only three in nine at the halfway mark in their first extended home stand, the Cincinnati Reds tried today to even their series with the New York Giants.

Ray Starr, 35-year-old right-hander, was assigned to try for his second victory against no defeats. Fiddler Bill McGee, with a record of one and one, was the Giants' probable hurler.

The Cincinnati Reds roster stood at 26 today—only one over the May 15 limitation—as a result of the sale for undisclosed amounts of Outfielder Ernie Koy to the Philadelphia Phils and Outfielder Frank Secory to the Milwaukee Brewers of the American Association

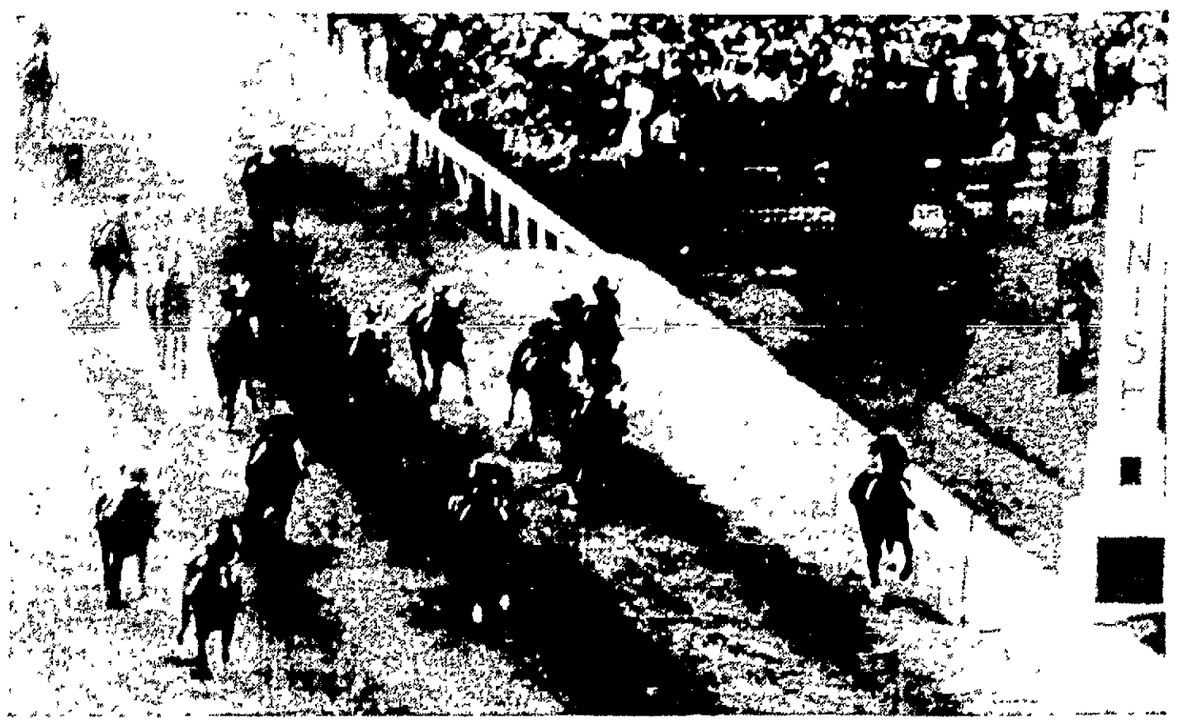
As Shut Out Scored Kentucky Derby Win



Shut-Out, son of the mighty Equipoise is shown on the outside as he galloped to a two-length victory in the 68th annual Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs before an estimated 65-000 racing fans. The winner, owned by Mrs. Payne Whitney, was ridden by Wayne Wright. Time for the race was 2 minutes 4 2-5 seconds. Alsab, directly behind Shut-Out was second in photo finish, Valdina Orphan, No. 16 to right of Shut-Out, was third, and With Regards, No. 17 on rail, was fourth.

BREWERS DEFEAT COLUMBUS TWICE

Win 4-2, 4-3 as Other Teams Are Idle.

By The Associated Press

Three American Association doubleheaders were postponed yesterday giving the clubs a chance to lean back—but not with ease—and watch the Milwaukee express keep widening the gap.

Everyone knew the Brewers possessed power before the season began and that's why most railbirds chose them to wind up in second place. But unless some of the clubs get back on the beam, Manager Charley Grimm's outfit might get out of reach.

The Brewers shot through to six straight wins yesterday by taking a twin bill from Columbus 4-2 and 4-3. They are undefeated in 12 games at home and have won 14 of 18 starts.

The only crew near them heels is Kansas City, whose doubleheader with Toledo was postponed as were the scheduled bargain bills between Indianapolis and St. Paul and Louisville and Minneapolis.

Sun Again Considered Preakness' Best Bet

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, May 4 — Because several unexpected things happened in the Kentucky Derby, the 52nd running of the Preakness at ancient Pimlico Saturday shapes up as a pretty fair race.

First of the unexpecteds in the Churchill Downs mile and a quarter classic was the victory of Shut Out.

The last son of the great Equipoise from Mrs. Payne Whitney's Greentree stable was just going out for the exercise, leaving the task of winning the $84,225 purse to his more famous stablemate, Devil Diver.

At least, that was the way most of the experts and laymen figured it. Hadn't Eddie Arcaro, the country's No. 1 rider, had his choice of the two horses and selected Devil Diver?

The second of the unexpecteds was Alsab Remember Sun—the winner of ten straight races as a two-year-old, winter book derby favorite and then a complete flop?

Alsab Bids

He had not shown enough to indicate he even would be in the money. But Al Sabath's bargain colt was pounds the best as the race was run. He was hit as he came out of the gate, ran into a couple of blind switches going around the first turn and then, with Basil James piloting him in and out of the pack he really turned on the steam from the half-mile post on but had to be content with second money.

The bid left him two and a half lengths back of Shut Out, who stayed close to the early pace and then pulled into command in the stretch.

Then there was Requested, Ben Whitaker's Texas-owned chestnut, who was the biggest disappointment of the Derby after being backed into second choice by a crowd estimated all the way from 60,000 to Col. Matt Winn's figure of 100,000.

Requested outran only one horse in the field of 15 but Blackie McCoole, his trainer, said he had a tough trip and refused to extend himself.

The Greentree pair, Alsab and Requested, along with Mrs Barclay Douglas' Fair Call, William Woodward's Apache, Valdina Orphan and Hollywood and possibly William DuPont Jr.'s Fairy Manah are headed for Pimlico

The mile and three sixteenths of the Preakness should be right down Valdina Orphan's alley but it also suits Warren Wright's Sun Again.

Sun Again originally was entered in the Derby although Wright and his trainer, Ben Jones, were never quite sure that the colt would parade to the post. Jones said Sun Again was a week or two from peak form so he was scratched.

The stablemate of Whirlaway, last year's triple crown winner, was shipped to Baltimore yesterday but Jones still was undecided whether his charge would go after the $60,000 purse. It all depends on Sun Again's workouts this week.

MID-ATLATNIC LOOP OPENS WITH 6 TEAMS

Springfield, Erie, Zanesville Win Openers.

By The Associated Press

The diminished Middle Atlantic league, loaded with boys too young for the draft, is off on its 18th campaign.

Six clubs, in place of the customary eight, staged the inaugural yesterday. The absentees were Akron, 1941 champion, and seventh-place Youngstown.

Erie, last year's runner-up and a favorite for the flag this season, got off to a bad start, losing 5 to 2 to Charleston. Don Bayliss kept eight hits well scattered in handcuffing the Pennsylvanians.

William (Tiny) Osborne pitched seven-hit ball and knocked in two runs to lead Springfield to a 6 to 3 victory over Canton. The Indians collected all their runs in a wild sixth, and Canton couldn't overcome the margin.

Zanesville's Cubs, taken over by a syndicate of local business men only Saturday, whipped Dayton 5 to 3. The sale was announced by Charles Wynn, hotel operator, who previously had acquired the club from Akron interests. He will continue as club president. Jack Warner is playing manager and vice president.

Marion Hawks in Winning Role, Edge Bucyrus Moose

King Bacon and Darrell Roseberry Hurl No-Hit Ball for Seven Innings; Season To Open Sunday.

The Marion Hawks, one of six teams in the newly-organized Ohio State semi-pro baseball league, tasted an 11-9 victory over the Bucyrus Moose in a practice game yesterday afternoon at Lincoln park.

The Hawks open their league schedule here next Sunday against the Galion Jaycees. Manager Roseberry said today that King Bacon, who hurled no-hit ball for four innings yesterday, will start on the mound. Either Ted Anderson or John Parlus will be behind the plate.

The Locals held the invaders in check through the first seven innings. Bacon tossed the first four innings without a single base hit registered. Darrell Roseberry relieved him in the fifth and stretched the no-hit streak to six and two-thirds innings before First Baseman Beattie rapped a single. John Lasch struck the eighth and allowed seven runs to cross before Darrell Roseberry. The Bucyrus nine failed to score more in the ninth on two straight doubles and a long fly ball.

The Hawks scored two runs in the first, second and fourth innings, four in the sixth and one more in the ninth.

In the Marion line-up were Joe [illegible] and John Parlus, catchers; King Bacon, Darrell Roseberry, [illegible] pitchers; Mel Lasch, Bob Brahm, Walter [illegible], first base; Max Roseberry and Francis Robbins, second base; Don Cook, shortstop; Joe Paul, third base; Gail Stout, left field; George Heege and Robert Cornell, center field; and Heege and Hilton, right field.

The Bucyrus line-up included McBride, catcher; D. Lasch, pitcher; Beattie, first base; Myers, second base; Orey [illegible], shortstop; W. Lasch, third base; H. Lasch and B. Myers, left field; Kemble, center field; and V. Lasch, right field.

Snatches of Sports

NEW YORK, May 4 — Walter Hagen starts his "comeback" today when he hooks up with actor Bob Hope, Jimmy Demaret and Mayor Jeffries of Detroit in a war relief match at Detroit. You can look for Sir Walter to finish second in that field. Report from Louisville says Ben Jones' reason for scratching Sun Again from the Derby was not because he didn't figure the colt was ready but because he didn't like the position he drew. Sun Again likely will be a Preakness starter although Ben claimed he wasn't sure when he shipped him to Pimlico. Jack Sharkey is listed to referee the Red Cochran-Garvey Young navy relief fight at Boston Friday. Wonder how the old gob will feel if he has to give Marine Young the decision over Sailor Cochrane?

Fisherman's Wisdom—Four Akron anglers who have been traveling to Canada every summer for a good many reasons, ran into a real problem this spring. For rather obvious reasons, none of them wanted to follow the usual custom of hauling the whole party in his car. Finally one came up with an idea. They all use the same size tires, so each contributed his spare to be put on one car for the trip.

Lords Beat Curtiss-Wright

The Lords Jewelry softball team defeated the Curtiss-Wright team of Columbus 13-6 in a practice game yesterday afternoon at Garfield park. Millisor allowed the invaders seven scattered hits while his teammates got 13 of the offerings of Linson and Motion. Curtiss-Wright was charged with five errors and Lords committed three errors.

Drop Publication of "Social Justice"

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 4—Publishers of Social Justice, national weekly magazine founded by Father Charles E. Coughlin, failed to appear today at a hearing to determine whether its second class mailing privileges should be revoked.

Calvin W. Hassel, assistant solicitor of the postoffice department, said he was informed that publication of the weekly would be discontinued and that its mailing privilege would be abandoned. Hassel said Father Coughlin had approved the suspension of the magazine, which Attorney General Biddle asserted last month was "clearly seditious."

A panel of three assistant postmasters general had assembled at the postoffice hearing room to hear the case, inaugurated by Postmaster General Walker at Biddle's instigation.

Pension Group Hears Talk by Rev. E. L. Fox

Rev. E. L. Fox, pastor of Greenwood Evangelical church was guest speaker at a meeting of the Old Age Pension Society of Marion county Saturday at the community center. Arthur Hershner, was in charge, and the meeting opened with a song, "America," by the group, salute to the Flag and reports of officers. Charles McCombs gave a report on a convention held at Columbus April 30 and stated that T. J. Johnson, state president, who has been ill, was able to be present. Talks were given by Mr Crow of Columbus and R. J. Jeffries of Hubbard. A guest from Mansfield, 86 years old, entertained with violin music. Mr. Hershner gave a talk in which it was urged that shops emphasize the sale of bonds to their employes. Mrs. McCombs gave a report on money collected for gasoline and Mr. Porter reported on pension recipients.

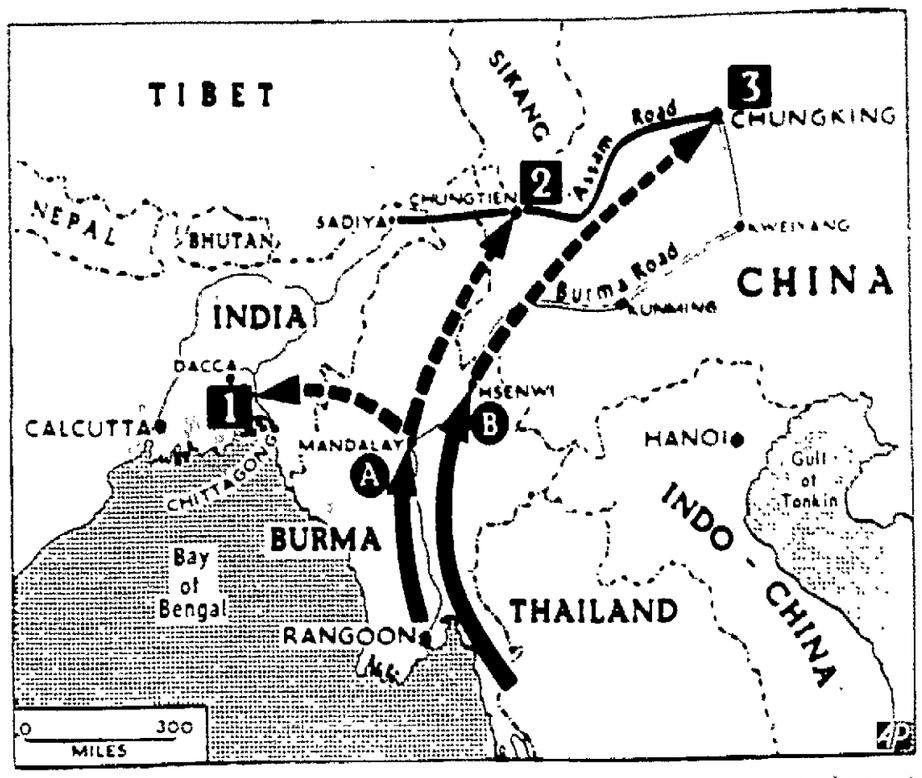
LATEST DRIVES OF JAPS THREATEN CHINA ANEW



The Japanese northward drives (black arrows) in Burma, having reached Mandalay (A) on the west and Hsenwi (B) on the east cast China's grave new peril into clear light. Advices from Chungking said there no longer was any doubt that the enemy was smashing eastward toward China rather than westward toward India (1). It was believed that the Japanese would try to sever the remote Assam road (2) linking India and China, now that the Burma road had been cut. Axis reports hinted that the Japanese goal might be Chungking (3), Free China's capital.

Miss Florence Heinlen Weds Clarence Balliett

Special to The Star

GALION, May 4—At a pretty home wedding Saturday Florence Heinlen, daughter of County Commissioner and Mrs. Lawrence S. Heinlen, became the bride of Clarence Balliett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grover Balliett. Carmella Heinlen attended the bride while Clayton Balliett served as best man. Betty Ann Balliett, niece of the groom was ring bearer.

Rev. J. H. Patterson, pastor of the Mt. Zion U. B. church read the ceremony. Prior to the ceremony Elizabeth Graham of Wyandot, accompanied by Eva Vollrath, of Bucyrus, sang.

The wedding dinner was at the home of the bride, after which the couple left for a short wedding trip. Mrs. Balliett is a graduate of Mt. Zion high school and of the Marion business college. Mr. Balliett attended Galion chools and is employed with the H. G. Staeffer Trucking company in Wooster.

10,721 Cheer Hollywood Stars in Cleveland Show

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, May 4 — The stars and starlets of the Hollywood victory caravan packed 10,721 Clevelanders into public hall last night and the audience did its best to make good on Bob Hope's home-town boast.

Hope, who shared honors as master of ceremonies with Cary Grant, claimed that he had told his fellow artists his former home was the best in the circuit for quick response and hearty appreciation. There was plenty of applause right throught the show.

The gross gate was $31,667. In previous one-night stands for the army and navy relief funds in Washington, Boston and Philadelphia the caravan raised $137,000.

BUSY WEEK-END AT MAR-O-DEL COURSE

Opening of Season Finds Big Crowd Out; Grounds Improved.

Opening of the 1942 Mar-O-Del golf season finds the annual early tournament getting under way. Beginning on April 21 and continuing until May 24, the tourney at present has 16 men entrants and four women, with many others expecting to follow suit. In the men's division the current co-leaders are Don Pierce and Bob Graham with 35s. Within reasonable chance of overtaking them is Sam Sharrock with 37. Heading the women is Betty Ifft who has 16. The latest tournament scores are not merely for the round but are computed on the basis of all scores turned in by the contestants for the duration of the tourney. If a player betters his score on a hole of all his previous rounds those strokes are subtracted from his standing nine-hole score. About the best score in these tournaments was turned by Bud Baker last year with a 28. From the cards posted by Mar-O-Del golfers in the tournament the handicap of each player can be fixed. Instead of the customary golf balls and other equipment formerly presented as prizes in the tourney, defense stamps will be given this year.

During the past off-season the Marion public links layout underwent a marked improvement. Because of the present golf ball shortage the once heavy rough was cut down to approximately the same level as the fairways. However, nothing could be done in regard to the large woods on the first hole which has long been a nemesis for unfortunate hooks-golfers. On every green new poles and flags have been installed. For the sake of weary divot-diggers benches have been placed on all tees. Other improvements have been made around the tees to insure good footing.

These features plus excellent golfing weather attracted a large crowd of Marion and county linksmen during the past week-end to the 3,177-yard municipal course. For so early in the season the number of golfers was unusual and larger groups in the future are anticipated in view Marion's expanding population.

Committee Says Radio Meets War Challenge

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., May 4—For the first time in its history, American radio is meeting the challenge of world war, a committee on awards observed today at the thirteenth annual Institute for Education by Radio.

The committee, announcing awards for the American exhibition of recordings of educational radio programs, added:

"The changing attitudes and activities of men have forced radio to assume new responsibilities, which have been accompanied by new opportunities for service. * * *

The committee cited four programs for "unusual merit"—the eye-witness account of the sinking of Britain's fighting ship Repulse, by Cecil Brown of the Columbia Broadcasting System; the program titled "Blood Donor," broadcast by station KFI, Los Angeles, the play, "Johnny Quinn, U. S. N." by Arch Oboler, and the Canadian Broadcasting corporation's war program, "Quiet Victory."

WHEAT PRICES LOSE EARLY MORNING GAIN

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, May 4—Advancing for the fifth consecutive session, wheat prices today rose as much as a cent, but then lost practically all of the gain.

Buying of mills and professional dealers was followed by scattered profit taking. Bullishness inspired by approval of the marketing quota system and loan program, with a large percentage of the new crop expected to be held off the market if prices do not advance several cents, was offset by failure of flour business to expand in proportions some traders had expected. Profit taking was attracted by the net gains of 4 to 5 cents since last week's lows were established.

Wheat closed unchanged to ⅝ higher compared with Saturday, May $1.21¾-¼, July $1.21⅝-½; corn unchanged to ⅛ down, May 85¾, July 88⅞; oats unchanged to ¼ up; soybeans ⅝ off to ⅛ up; rye ⅛-½ higher.

Tree That Wasn't There Saves Life of Driver

By The Associated Press

FLINT, MICH.—The tree that wasn't there saved Curwood Donley's life.

When Donley, drowsing at the wheel of his automobile, awoke he found his car hub-deep in mud and standing still. Highway officials told him a large tree had been removed from the mud hole only 24 hours before by workers who are widening the road.

STOCKS STILL MOVE HIGHER

Upward Trend, However, Lacks Much Vigor; Most Gains Are Small.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, May 4—The stock market enjoyed its fifth successive recovery session today without displaying a great deal of vigor.

The rallying utilities of last week again were the liveliest performers in generally sluggish dealings. A few senior issues were up one to three points. Gains generally ran to minor fractions and top marks were reduced in most cases.

The news from war fronts and business was viewed as neutral marketwise and analysts credited further selective improvement mainly to buying on the theory the list already had discounted many bearish developments.

American Telephone was an early forward swinger, but later lost its rising momentum. Wider movers among preferreds included issues of West Penn Electric and Columbia Gas. Ahead at one time or another were U. S. Steel, J. C. Penney, U. S. Rubber and J. I. Case.

Continuing as a drag on market sentiment were Wall Street predictions that the forthcoming tax bill would be much more favorable for corporations not engaged in direct armament work than the proposed imposts submitted by the treasury.

War Gets Credit for Spray That Stops Bleeding

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Writer

ST. PAUL—Some in the column of benefits from this war a spray which stops bleeding in a few seconds. The spray is made from two water-clear proteins extracted from the blood.

Its existence was revealed by several physicians and scientists attending the annual convention of the American College of Physicians. The spray is under trial in New York hospitals.

The spray substances are produced in several laboratories as by-products of the work of scientists cooperating to produce better substitutes for blood transfusions for American fighting men.

One of the spray proteins is fibrinogen which, during the reaction of blood clotting, becomes fibrin for forming the clot. The other is prothrombin, a protein active in initiating clot formation.

Some of the laboratory side of this work was reported to the college by Dr. Edwin J. Cohn, professor of biological chemistry, Harvard university. One of the substitutes produced at Harvard is albumin which is a large-sized fraction of the blood. Albumin in some cases may have advantages over the blood plasma which hundreds of thousands of Americans are contributing to the Red Cross.

Albumin, the largest single part of this plasma, can be crystallized, thus insuring high purity and easy preservance for long periods.

Fibrinogen and prothrombin are only two of several by-products of the albumin work. Another is the proteins containing the immunizing substances that keep human beings well and assist in their recovery from infectious disease. Half of human illness might be ended if scientists knew everything about this by-product. They don't know but the war is piling up stocks of the immunizing substances for study.

Ohio, Northeast States Have Most Skilled Workers

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON—A substantial portion of the nation's skilled male workers, the census bureau reports, is concentrated in Ohio and seven other states in the middle Atlantic and east north central areas.

The bureau said 16th decennial census data showed half of the 4,919,122 skilled male workers (craftsmen, foremen and kindred workers) employed in the United States in the last week of March, 1940, were located in Ohio, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin.

"The degree of concentration in these states," the bureau said, "is of particular interest insofar as it indicates the location of workers in some of the specialized occupations needed for the war production program."

The bureau said the concentration in these states was nearly as marked for professional workers, a group including technical engineers, chemists, physicians, dentists and trained nurses, which the bureau pointed out are greatly in demand in the war emergency.

The bureau reported that 50 per cent of the operatives and kindred workers, a group that includes semi-skilled factory hands, also were in the middle Atlantic and east north central areas.

In addition a substantial number of skilled and semi-skilled women workers were reported in these two areas.

The number of skilled male workers by states was reported by the bureau as follows:

New York, 590,280; New Jersey, 216,915; Pennsylvania, 418,176; Ohio, 333,022; Indiana, 140,980; Illinois, 361,142; Michigan, 271,992; Wisconsin, 119,690.

Keeps Up on Hobbies, But Loses His Wife

By The Associated Press

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.—There was no living room in the living room because of her hubby's hobbies, an Indianapolis woman complained in suing for divorce.

In the room, she said, he kept 30 pistols, rifles and shotguns and an 18-foot fishing boat. She described the setup as "intolerable."

Home Repair Has Added Importance

Keeping the home in good repair is an obligation that has taken on increased importance as a result of war conditions, building experts point out.

"Homes, like tires and clothes, wear out," one authority asserted. "For the duration of the war, there will be little new building except for defense workers. That means that every precaution must be taken to keep the homes we now have in as good condition as possible."

Most materials needed for home repairs are available in ample quantities and substitutes generally are available for those that are scarce.

Needs First Aid After First Aid Demonstration

NEW ORLEANS — John C. Diemert, 45-year-old night watchman, walked into Charity hospital and complained of a sore chest. Internes found it bruised and applied water packs. Asked how he was hurt, Diemert explained he was the subject in a first aid lecture on artificial respiration and the instructor, who he said weighed over 200 pounds, "rubbed too hard."

YOUR HEALTH

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Health History

Dr. Louis W. Sauer has written From Infancy Through Childhood which is in my opinion one of the best books of its kind ever to be printed. I have been looking through it to try to find something useful that has been omitted, but have been unable to do so. And besides that, there is a great deal of new material which has never appeared in a book of this type before.

To list some of the topics which Dr. Sauer has covered, there are chapters on "Breast Feeding," "Bottle Feeding," "Vitamins and Balanced Diet," with good advice about cereals, milk, planning the childs meals, vegetables, canned vegetables, sugar and a number of recipes. There is a good discussion of the underweight child and the overweight child.

The chapter on "Physical Health" considers the sequence of a child's development, sleep, fresh air and sunshine, hot weather precautions, exercise and play, toys and games, flat feet, baby teeth, permanent teeth and so forth. The chapter on "Mental Health" with intelligence tests is very conservative and sane.

Extremely important is the chapter on common contagious diseases and also a chapter on non-contagious diseases, with the signs which should give warning.

Other chapters consider the incubator baby and the adopted child.

Something new in a textbook of this kind is the recommendation to keep a medical chart which will have information that will be useful in later years. To read this is to get an idea of what an experienced pediatrician like Dr. Sauer believes it necessary to immunize a child against—what skin tests are necessary.

With spaces indicated for the date, age and result, the chart breaks down the health history in this way:

(1). Immunization record — Whooping cough, Diphtheria, Smallpox, Scarlet Fever, Tetanus, Typhoid Fever.

(2). Skin tests—Schick, Dick, Tuberculin, Allergy.

(3). Disease record — (contagious)—Chicken pox, German measles, Measles, Mumps, Scarlet Fever, Whooping cough; (non-contagious)—Tonsilitis, Ear infection, pneumonia, ——, ——.

(4). Operations—Tonsils and adenoids, Appendix, ——, ——.

Pitfalls of Love

By ADELE GARRISON

Long Distance Operator Tells Madge of Night Call to Diswell That Came from "Ian Rue Shawn"

"I AM so glad," I told Sadie, the long distance telephone operator who, at the mandate of the captain of the state troopers, had been looking up the records of all long distance calles received during the last month by Professor Diswell. "Just wait a second please," I said, "until I get pencil and paper."

"Professor Dixwell," began Sadie crisply, "since he has lived up here, has had less than a dozen long distance calls each year. His bank and his lawyers telephone him about every three months, and he occasionally calls them; also shops in New York, but not often. All those calls have been made in the daytime.

Night Call From New York

"A month ago, however," she went on, "we had a call for Professor Diswell from New York at 2 o'clock in the morning. It was a person to person call, and because of that fact the operator remembered it very well. In fact"—there was a note of amusement in Sadie's voice—"I am afraid her zeal overstepped her observance of rules a bit, for she seems to have overheard their talk."

"I am very glad she did," I said.

"I though you would be," Sadie commented, and I made a mental guess that the chief operator had relaxed discipline and encouraged the night operator to repeat what she had overheard.

"Was it a man or a woman who called him?" I asked.

"A man," Sadie replied promptly. "At first the operator thought his name was Johnson—the connection was not very good—and Professor Diswell refused to take the reverse call, for which he would have to pay, saying he knew no one of that name. Then the New York man became very excited, said the operator had made a mistake, in the name and demanded, almost in tears she said, that she tell Professor Diswell the name was Shawn—Mr. Ian Rue Shawn."

My hand went to my throat.

"What?" I almost shrieked. "Please say that again."

"I would rather spell it," she said competently, and did so: "I-a-n R-u-e S-h-a-w-n."

I could not speak for so long that Sadie, evidently thinking the connection had been broken, asked with concern, "Are you there, Mrs. Graham?"

"Yes, yes," I told her feverishly, "and thank you very much. This is tremendously important information for me, and I shall be glad of any additional crumb of information you can give me. Did your operator note Professor Diswell's reaction to the name she gave him?"

Diswell Greatly Excited

"Indeed she did," she answered, "I guess she'll remember it always, for the old man, when he understood the name, became violently excited. He asked what the devil she had meant by giving him the name of Johnson; said he would pay for any call, and told her to put the man on at once."

"You can imagine that by this time the girl was pretty excited herself, and his mention of a suit against the company made her subsequent listening to the conversation almost excusable."

"Wholly excusable," I amended with emphasis. "Please tell me what was said."

"Well," Sadie hesitated, as if refreshing her memory, "she put the New York man on the phone and the first thing he said was: 'Professor Diswell. Don't you remember me? This is Shawn; 'Shawn Rue' you used to call me.'"

The Stars Say—

For Tuesday, May 5

UNUSUAL promise for broadening the scope of living, with definite advance on cherished goals, may be read from the predominant planetary configurations. In the pursuit of ambitious objectives there should be substantial support and encouragement from elders, superiors and those in influential positions.

Those whose birthday it is may be assured of a year of very decisive advancement upon cherished ideals, high ambitions and practical culminations to long-hoped-for objectives, affecting the domestic, social and private life. In this the assistance and wise counsel of elders, superiors and those in high places may be counted upon, although there may be some sudden postponements, obstacles or peculiar frustrations.

A child born on this day should be consumed with very lofty ambitions to reach a high and influential position in life. It will have the endurance, and good sense to attain these ends.

According to a government estimate about 65 per cent of Canada's production of women's clothing is manufactured in Montreal.
